Oran Moslems Revel As Terror Collapses

ORAN, Algeria (Reuters)—Joyful bands of Moslems flocked into central Oran today, marking the apparent collapse of European terrorist resistance.

The Moslems crossed over the barbed-wire barriers dividing the European and Moslem communities in this city which has been the last bastion of the European terrorist Secret Army Organization.

They marched in groups of five or six right up to the centre of the city where they have not dared venture for months. One said "It is not victory. It is peace."

His companion asked him: "Do you know your way around? It's months since we have been here. It's wonderful."

Cars and trucks also drove gerian port city.

Committee Represents Both Sides

Secret Army sources said about 300 commandos probably would leave for abroad, ending the last organized resistance of the terrorist movement which battled to keep Algeria French.

The two communities took a major step toward peace Thursday night with the formation of a "committee of reconciliation" for Oran consisting of 14 Europeans and 14 Moslems.

They met in an atmosphere described as "excellent" by a French government spokesman. But the new advance toward Moslem-European harmony was marred by what appeared to be a major split two days away.

BERTON ON THE TRAIL

Beautiful Hot Springs Held Family Overnight

(Toronto columnist Pierre Berton is revisiting his old home, the Yukon. Fourth in a series.)

LIARD HOT SPRINGS (Delayed)—The reason that the black arrow on the map has not moved very far is easily explained. We have camped at what must surely be the most enchanting spot on the Alaska Highway. We came here for lunch and I'm mediately decided to Pierre Berton throw our itinerary out the window and stay overnight.

The Liard Hot Springs have been famous in song and story for almost half a century. Back in the 1920s they were so far removed from civilization that they gave rise to legend about a tropical valley hidden away in the northern snows. Newspapers headlined the tales and the popular magazine writers of the day peddled fantasies of Elysian paradise in the Canadian sub-Arctic to such magazines as The Strand and Wide World.

U.S. SPY SOBLEN In ISRAEL HOSPITAL

TEL AVIV (AP)—Saying he is a tired, sick old man, Dr. Robert Soblen was taken to the hospital of Israel's Ramle prison Thursday night and put under medical supervision.

Israel police arrested the man convicted as a spy in a tourist hotel near the Mediterranean less than 60 hours after he jumped $100,000 bail in New York and flew to Israel, entering the country with a Canadian passport.

Dr. Soblen was ordered held for investigation on a charge of illegal entry into Israel. Competent Israeli legal authorities expressed the belief that he would not be allowed to stay—although Israel has no extradition treaty with the United States.

HOT SPRINGS

Charles Camself, himself a son of the north, had to fly into the region personally and make an investigation before these tales subsided.

Myth Persisted

But the myth lingered on for years and was only dispelled during the Second World War when the Alaska Highway was built. The springs were certainly hot enough for the construction crews to bathe in sub-zero weather, but there was no Shangri-la world here peopled by a strange tribe of prehistoric men—not did mysterious death lurk among the ferns. The tropical valley legend, which is a hard one to kill, simply moved north to the Nahanni region where other sulphur springs are to be found yellowing the winter snows.

The idea of hot springs in the frozen north has always been a tantalizing one and people still find the idea incongruous, even though such springs are fairly prevalent. (In Alaska there is one region known as The Valley of the Ten Thousand Smokes.) Still we weren't really prepared for what we found here.

Really Hot Bath

We drove across the Liard suspension bridge which spans this broad and frightening river with its grand canyon, its Whirlpool, its Hell's Gate and its Rapids of the Drowned. A half-mile farther on we turned off into a pleasantly wooded camping area complete with toilet facilities and picnic tables. Then we followed a carefully laid wooden sidewalk across a swamp to the grove where the first hot pool is to be found.

Even before we reached the water we were struck by the almost sub-tropical luxury of the growth here. A Persian Carpet of wild flowers spattered the sides of the walk-way and as we drew nearer these flowers increased in profusion. White violets as big as parsnips were banked by the thousands along our way; brier roses, fatter and pinker than I have ever seen—blushed from every grove.

Then came the ferns growing as thickly as in Hawaii and finally a splash of yellow violets bringing a limpkin of the deepest smoky blue.

Tropical Setting

It is exactly the sort of setting in which Dorothy Lamour and Esther Williams were always being discovered back in the days when Hollywood made escape pictures about South Sea Islands.

We could see the steam rising from this pool and feel the waves of heat from it. No wonder—for the water is about 150 degrees at the surface and almost too hot to bear. Fortunately an ice-cold stream also runs in and so when the water is stirred up the temperature is just about that of a good warm bath. It is sulphurous water and when the children leaped in the chemical reacted with the 6-12 mosquito lotion on their arms, bleaching them in streaks like painted Indians.

MEDICARE

ceived anonymous letters threatening "action" against them if they did not practise under the plan.

He said the letters, mailed Wednesday from Melita, Man., had been turned over to RCMP.

Dr. Gibson said similar letters had been received by doctors in Carnduff and Oxbow in the southeast of the province.

A group of registered nurses left Melville Thursday to drive 100 miles to Regina, picking up other nurses en route. They hoped to meet with the premier to discuss their position under the plan.

Liberal Leader Ross Thatcher called for a special session of the legislature to deal with the dispute. He said the Liberal opposition would give every assurance to the government that it would co-operate in passing legislation to expedite a settlement.

Final details were being worked out to staff hospitals under the doctors' emergency service plan.

Dr. Sam Landa, a Saskatoon surgeon, who is in charge of the emergency service program said the college is "reasonably sure" the service could be provided for at least two weeks.

PLEASURE AFLOAT

Cruiser Launching Soon

By DON INGHAM

A 47-foot luxury cruiser built by Philbrook's Boat Works at Shoal Harbor for R. S. "Speed" Olson is due to be launched in about a week.

Because its owner is an ardent hunter and fisherman and hopes to cruise northern waters both summer and winter, the vessel has its own oil furnace and hot-air heating system, enclosed and heated flying bridge, and hot and cold running water.

Designer is Edwin Monk of Seattle, who has produced a hull which he calls "semi-displacement." It has a sharp forefoot and rounded chines for comfort, but enough of a flat bottom to give her a fair turn of speed.

She is expected to cruise at 14.4 knots under the drive of two British Perkins turbocharged diesels developing a total of 750 horsepower. Maxium speed will be about 17 knots.

The installation is the first of its type for Perkins in North America, and company representatives will be at the launching.

Liability was denied by George Gregory appearing for Mr. McLean and F. V. Collier representing Mr. Henderson.

Mr. Gregory said Mr. McLean did not know of the broken rail and could not reasonably be expected to know of it. Mrs. Drake was a litcence on the premises and his only obligation to her was not to let her sustain injuries from concealed dangers of which he was aware.

Defendants in the action were George H. McLean, chiropractor of 884 Fort Street, and Kenneth Henderson, a repairman employed by the B.C. Telephone Co.

Mr. Price claimed that Mr. Henderson, while doing repairs on the premises, had accidentally broken the rail away from its supports, and then replaced it so that the break was concealed.

He said both Mr. Henderson and Mr. McLean were liable because the rail was not repaired and the accident occurred as a result.

Liability was denied by George Gregory appearing for Mr. McLean and F. V. Collier representing Mr. Henderson.

Mr. Gregory said Mr. McLean did not know of the broken rail and could not reasonably be expected to know of it. Mrs. Drake was a litcence on the premises and his only obligation to her was not to let her sustain injuries from concealed dangers of which he was aware.

Mr. Justice R. A. Wootton reserved judgment after hearing argument by counsel.

Planking below the waterline is 1½-inch Philippine mahogany, and topsides are 1½-inch western red cedar. All seams are wedged and decks are of teak. Trim is Honduras mahogany.

Equipment includes automatic bilge pumps, a propane stove, electric refrigerator and navigation aids. There are two complete staterooms aboard, each with its own head.

Interior has wall-to-wall carpeting. Building has been under way since January.

The works were chosen by a jury headed by British sculptor Lynn Chadwick from photographs from entrants all across Canada.

Eliza E. Mayhew, 2797 Musgrave, will have two works on display, "The Onlookers" which has been shown at UBC, and "Procession" shown at the Victoria Art Gallery.

John Richtel, of Sidney, will have one exhibit in the show which will continue until September 3.

The works were chosen by a jury headed by British sculptor Lynn Chadwick from photographs from entrants all across Canada.

Sask. Medicare Bitterness Flares Up in Town Meeting

By JOHN MATTERS

WATROUS, Sask. (CP)—The tension and bitterness which has divided the citizens of Saskatchewan over the medical care issue was obvious here Thursday night.

It was learned that the town's three-member police force was increased to 10 in preparation for any violence that might have erupted at a meeting called by the Keep-Our-Doctors Committee, an organization which says it has taken an impartial stand in the dispute.

Deputy Preacher A. H. Brockelbank and Hans Broten CCF member of the legislature for Watrous, were the objects of a cacophony of boos and cat-calls from the audience of 200.

Dr. A. W. Thomson, who will be closing his office here when the plan goes into effect July 1, and Dr. J. F. C. Anderson, a representative of the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons, were cheered as they crossed swords with the government spokesmen.

Dr. Thomson said he set up practice in this town 85 miles southeast of Saskatoon nine years ago, hoping it would be a permanent home for his wife and family.

REGRETS MOVE

He disliked the idea of discontinuing the practice as much as his patients did, he said. However, he will staff the hospital here on an emergency-only basis after July 1.

"You people didn't believe me when I said I'd close up," he said. "But no longer after midnight June 30 will I have a spoken or implied contract to treat any of you. Big brother—our government—has taken that away."

"Treating sick persons is what I've spent my whole life doing. Now all of my freedoms would be taken away."

Dr. Thomson's partner will work as an emergency surgeon at a Prince Albert Hospital in an emergency care plan which has been set up by the college, using about one-quarter of its 900 members.

Mr. Brockelbank said doctors could hardly expect to maintain their hospital privileges if they did not carry out their practice or left without first arranging for a substitute.

Hospital boards would be quite justified in getting a definite statement from the doctor and if he is neither going to practice himself nor make provision for a substitute, to ask for his resignation."

If such a vacancy was created, said Mr. Brockelbank, the government would probably arrange for a doctor to fill it.

The government would rapidly expand its air ambulance service if "this worst situation comes" and other transportation facilities would be quickly organized. It might be necessary to take some patients out of the province.

SOCRED CHIEFS

March Vote Predicted

By GERRY McNEIL

QUEBEC (CP) — Robert Thompson promised Thursday that the tall will wag the dog during the next Parliament, expected in September.

The Social Credit leader said his 30 members will not try to precipitate another election this year.

But he added at a press conference after a two-day party caucus at the Laurentian resort of Lac Beauport that government austerity measures "are not coming up in Parliament, you wait and see."

He and Deputy Leader Real Caouette said the measures announced last Sunday by Prime Minister Diefenbaker were the only course open to the government.

Both disapproved what they called the tight-money policy.

"You watch the cost-of-living index in the next few months and see who's paying for this thing," said Mr. Thompson.

He said Social Credit would vote against the austerity program if a non-confidence motion was placed before the Commons. But it would not initiate the motion.

He added that Social Credit wants to avoid an election until next March or April. The party wanted time to organize nationally.

Dawson Humsas Gold Rush Festival Deadline Nears

DAWSON CITY, Y.T. (CP) — Workmen and a theatrical company took turns in the rebuilt Palace Grand Theatre here, both aiming for a Sunday deadline and the official start of Dawson City's first Gold Rush Festival.

The workers are putting finishing touches to the decor of the 601-seat theatre while the theatrical group is going through its final rehearsals of a musical specialty written for the festival.

The northern affairs department has rebuilt the Palace Grand at a cost of $200,000 and it will be the centre of much of the activity during the eight-week festival.

More than 20,000 tourists, the majority of them Americans, are expected to mush their way here by car, boat, bus and plane.

Alan Innes-Taylor, one-time member of the famed Northwest Mounted Police and now general manager of the festival, said today about 25,000 persons have written, seeking information about the festival and saying they intend to travel here.

COME FROM SEATTLE

"Many of the Americans planning the trip will have attended the world's fair at Seattle and spent some time in Alaska before arriving en route home," he said.

Mr. Innes-Taylor said the Dawson City Gold Rush Festival Foundation expected to have a deficit the first year.

"We can't kid anybody that conditions here will be like the more highly commercialized tourist attractions of the world."

Six nights a week at the Palace Grand a cast headed by Bert Lahr will stage the musical Foxy, an adaptation by Ian

Also, Mr. Thompson said later in an interview, he felt the Liberals—who now have 99 seats against the Conservatives' 116—would form a minority government if another election is held this year.

However, an election might come "in a mighty short time within a year and it could be less than that."

During the caucus, the 27 members who attended — Mr. Thompson was the only one of four Western Canada Socreds able to come — chose a "shadow cabinet" and outlined a program to bone up for Parliament. The Socreds won 26 of Quebec's 75 seats in the June 18 federal election.

"It has been said that our Social Credit members lack experience. Whether this is a disadvantage or not I don't know ... but they'll be doing parliamentary homework during the summer."

The caucus gave Mr. Caouette, side by side, handled reporter's questions, sometimes simultaneously and occasionally with surrounding members chipping in comment.

FILING OF SUIT ROCKS JAPAN IMPERIAL COURT

TOKYO (AP) — Emperor Hirohito's uncle shook the serenity of the imperial court Wednesday by suing the imperial household. This would have been impossible in prewar Japan, when the emperor was regarded as a god. Prince Higashikuni, 74, a former prince who was Japan's first postwar premier, claimed the imperial household gave him a nine-acre estate in exchange for his Tokyo palace in the Second World War after the palace was destroyed in an air raid.

Soviet Is Enemy Of Market Plan

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev today told Austrian Chancellor Alfons Gorbach he got French support for Austrian co-operation with the six-nation economic alliance.

The Soviet Union makes no secret of its negative attitude toward the European Economic Community. Khrushchev said the Soviet Union is an enemy of the European Common Market.

This is our position because this community disorganized European trade, declares economic war on other countries, undermines the independence and sovereignty of small states connected with it, also their ability to determine their national policy themselves.

It was some of the bluntest language Khrushchev has used in his mounting campaign against the market.

Gorbach came here shortly after a visit to Paris, where he got French support for Austrian co-operation with the six-nation economic alliance.

B.C.'s $8,000,000 vocational school building program may be in danger, said Mr. Chant. Schools at Nelson, Kelowna and Prince George are to be built under an agreement with Ottawa, paying 75 per cent of the cost.

Remanded In Custody

Frederick C. Fyfe was remanded in custody for a pre-sentence report by Magistrate William Ostler in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to obtaining money by false pretences.

Police said he cashed a dud cheque for $18 in his own name at Capital Iron and Metals Ltd., Store Street, in April.

Fears of a return to serious unemployment because of the Conservative government austerity drive were aired in B.C.

Labor officials in Victoria and Vancouver predicted that cancellation of federal public works projects will send unemployment soaring this winter.

Provincial government spokesmen are worried, too.

Works Minister W.N. Chant predicted a general cutback in building and business.

"New tight money rules also will discourage investment in new construction," he said.

All projects for which tenders have not been called have been shelved pending a full review by Ottawa.

"There is between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000 worth of work that could be done in the Greater Victoria area," said Ald. Toone.

It is a considerable item to be moved from the economy of an area the size of Greater Victoria."

Victoria Labor Council secretary Ald. A.W. Toone said the Victoria area could be particularly hard hit by cancellation of federal projects.

"Unless public works projects are carried forward we are going to be in trouble."

He said that 2,500 men are employed in Victoria shipyards alone, and many would lose jobs if Ottawa drops plans for new ship contracts.

In Vancouver, John McNevin, assistant secretary of the B.C. Federation of Labor, said the works cutback will have "a shattering effect."

It could create one of the worst unemployment problems in B.C. history, he said.

We Have a Bill to Pay

THIS CUTBACK IN PUBLIC works and ship contracts on Vancouver Island is painful and disappointing. This is part of the price we must pay for the mistakes of the past. The new austerity program is the way of doing it.

No Canadian should expect to escape from the process that is now under way. It will affect everyone in some manner or other. Prices will rise. Interest rates have already risen. And taxes will go up.

The shelving of contracts which promised work and profit locally is unavoidable — incidental to the action which must be taken throughout the nation.

Thoughtful Canadians will support that action and the government for taking it, even if they will not forgive the deception practised by the government before it chose the necessary and hard course out of current difficulties. The public cannot excuse, and should not excuse, the deceit of two weeks ago, when the voters were assured that everything was in order and that those who disagreed were merely prophets of gloom and doom.

Obviously, when the whole nation has to meet the bill, this area can expect no exemption. The hard facts of life are being brought home to the people of Canada. They are told now that they have been living beyond their means and that the time has come for retrenchment and reform.

Of course a large number of people are going to be hurt—and not just in this community or on this Island. But if policies of retrenchment and reform are accepted some long-term profit may be taken from the national policies just announced. And they will be accepted, willingly or unwillingly, for the simple reason that there is no other way out of our present difficulties.

Under the Wire

THE APPOINTMENT OF MR. Campbell Haig to the Canadian Senate might be a very good appointment under ordinary conditions. The respected citizen of Winnipeg perhaps will be a useful legislator and no doubt has earned his reward by service to the Conservative Party. He is also the son of a distinguished senator who resigned recently and the introduction of the hereditary principle into the Senate is interesting.

Much more important in a constitutional sense is the appointment of any senators while no Canadian Parliament exists, while the government lacks any vote of confidence. In this interregnum Mr. Diefenbaker is legally able to exercise all the function of his office, including the appointment of his friends to the Senate. In a moral sense, however, he is bound to postpone any decisions of this sort that can be safely postponed until he knows whether Parliament will support or reject his government.

No one will say that the appointment of another Conservative senator is vital business which cannot wait. On the contrary, most Canadians will see here only another evidence of the government's present panic. It is getting its friends into the Senate while it has the chance, before the curtain falls.

This is understandable and more Senate appointments may be expected. But a decent respect for the opinion of the public would forbid Mr. Diefenbaker to make them.

Running 10, 20, 30 Years?

WHEN M.R. BENNETT bought Black Ball ferries and terminals last year for $6.7 million ($4.6 million for ships and $2.1 million for terminals) some experienced transportation authorities said that the premier had acquired a lot of junk.

Not so, said Mr. Bennett. Black Ball ships were not ready for the scrap heap as some claimed, he said. They would not need to be replaced and would be running "10, 20, 30, 40 years from now."

At the outset of the current heavy tourist year, what is the situation?

It is so precarious that eight ferry sailings between Tsawwassen and Swartz Bay were cancelled on Tuesday as vessels were switched to provide service on another run because the regular craft was in drydock. And another ferry was being pushed over its route by a tug because of engine breakdown.

In addition, the Chinook and Kahloke lack sufficient power to carry them through Active Pass against a fast tide and frequently have been taking the long way around on the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen run.

The experienced transportation men who expressed doubts over the Black Ball purchase scarcely need to press the arguments they made last year. Events are supporting their case.

In the meantime, Mr. Bennett has a tricorn hat and has been pictured at the wheel of the "Bounty."

British Columbians, grateful for improved service between southern Vancouver Island and the lower mainland, will hope that the premier will take advantage of experienced men's views when he acquires new vessels.

They admire the "Bounty," as a period piece, and perhaps some of the Black Ball equipment for the same reason. They don't want to depend either on square-riggers or supplementary tugs to get them hither and yon on a regular ferry service.

Off the Hook

THE UNITED STATES EMBARGO ON trade with Cuba posed Canadians with an ideological and political conundrum; for many it had moral overtones.

Cuba had gone Communist, and aiding Communism, through trade or otherwise, to strengthen its foothold in this hemisphere was no policy for us. There was, too, the consideration that the United States was our ally and that we should not be seeking ways to circumvent its embargo on Cuban trade, and particularly if we were making money out of it.

On the other hand, Cuba was a sovereign nation with which our relations were officially friendly; there was no political or economic reason why we should not trade with it, especially if we excepted strategic goods.

There was, too, a feeling that to conform, however voluntarily, to the American embargo would put us in a subservient position to Washington. We must make our own policies and follow them. In any case, it was argued, United States medical and food exports to Cuba represented a larger dollar total than all our exports.

Mr. Hees' enthusiastic view of the Cubans as great friends and a huge market for our goods did not find wide favor or belief in Canada. The people felt uncomfortable as the trade figures climbed somewhat. There was some relief that they did not assume the large proportions prophesied by the trade minister.

Canadians' discomfort has now been relieved and consciences eased, not by any moral action but by economics. Trade with Cuba is diminishing steadily this year. Our exports to Cuba during January and February were about half the total of the previous year — the February figure dropped no less than $2 million from the 1961 total of about $2.5 million. The decline is expected to continue throughout this year, until our exports to Cuba have almost entirely ceased.

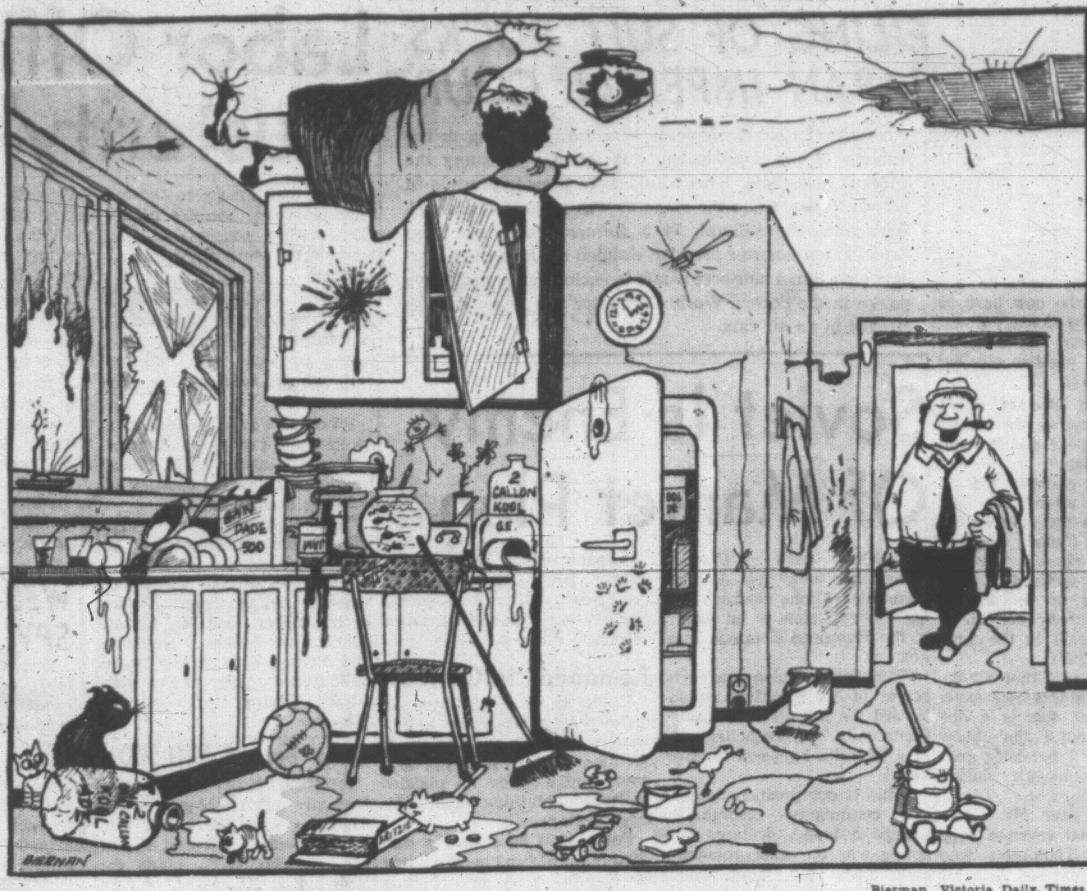

The reason is that Cuba is running out of dollars and cannot buy more goods from us. Thus our ideological and moral issue is resolved without the need for agonizing re-appraisal on our part. In perhaps typical fashion we've preserved our sovereignty and dignity—and made a few dollars on the side.

Shirtsleeves to Power

REUTERS REPORTS FROM Phnom Penh that Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodian head of state, has urged government white-collar workers to regard manual work as necessary and dignified. He himself sets an example to the civil servants when, on frequent tours of rural areas, he strips off his coat and tie to work beside farmers and other workers.

This may be a sterling lesson by example on the dignity of labor. Or could it be a Southeast Asian way of saying you don't necessarily have to be born in a log cabin to get to the top?

A LITTLE ADDED COLOR

By B. A. TOBIN

Let's Give History a Great Big Hand

I HAVE not seen or heard any of the script for the centennial pageant. My sole knowledge of it, in fact, is confined to one of two excerpts published in the press. I recall one passage in which James Douglas is supposed to say: "But we gotta finish up here so's I can be the boss!" And another which quotes him with the exhortation: "Build it good with pegs of wood." Tobin still another in which he orders the flag to be broken out over the newly-built Fort Victoria: "Raise the Jack, there ain't no more!"

I do not know whether these passages really occur in the script, or whether a news reporter was indulging in a little quiet spoofing. While it is difficult to condone spoofing in the public prints, this appears to be a case in which the reporter, if he is indeed guilty, might gladly be forgiven all.

But whether or not the script actually comes right out with these words, it is certainly original and stimulating on someone's part to cast James Douglass — apparently — as some sort of a frontiersman of the American Wild West, or possibly a ward boss from Brooklyn. Such dramatic initiative should certainly add a lot of zest to the whole production.

The idea is so good, in fact—and, as I say, I still do not know who really should be credited with it—that it might be interesting to experiment with a few other colorful backgrounds for some of our historical characters.

How about Captain Vancouver as a fine old Southern plantation owner?

"Naow, gennelmen, Ah must prevail upon you all to put the bayou skiff overhand an' row me plumb' shoon. Ah alms' i' name all these bayous an' inlets heah-abouts b'foah sundown. An' cabin boy, I do declah I want mah mint julep ready when Ah return."

This should give a nice homely touch to the character, particularly for those tourists who may be present from oil.

Matthew Baillie Begbie as, say, a stage Frenchman of the old school of vaudeville, would add spice to any portrayal of our history.

"M'sieu, has eet nevar occurred to you zat in keeling zis man you haff not only broken hees—wat you say?—tete, bot you haff broken zee law aussi. Sacre bleu! I mus' impose upon you zee full penalty of zee' law. You weel heng by zee' feek until you aire mort, mort, mort!"

And Hudson's Bay Company Governor George Simpson as a native of Brooklyn would be a natural. See him visiting a fur post:

"Hawyah, youse guys. Wassa good wold, Mac? Wotcha doin' wit all dem skins ya gettin' from dem Injuns? An' don't hand me dat ol' er about times bein' tough. Dey's tough all over, see?"

An' I ain't beatin' my gums fer fun, Mac. I downna haft' git tough witcha, see, but I wanna get things berlin' here or you ain't hold nuttin' set."

But the crowning moment of the whole pageant, of course, would be when Queen Victoria, in the accents of a London flower girl, brought down the curtain in a grand, and merciful, finale: You're harskin' me, my minstahs, To settle a dispute

By finkin' hup a nyne t' give Some tahn uv low reput. Now stroike m' pink, luvs, wt Hi mean, Hif hit heyen't a propah lahk,

To fink up nyne for plies wot Heyen't heven got a park. Hif'll ark'my Al, that's wot Hif'll do, 'E'll fink o' summat, see— An' coo! Hi shouldn't be suprashed Hif' e'nymed hit arter me!

As Our Readers See It

The Evaporating Majority

I wonder if the member for Victoria realizes why his former majority was nearly wiped out and that his party lost 12 seats in B.C.

There are, of course, several reasons, one of considerable import is the fact that this province has a very large population of English birth, others with old country relatives and background, who were incensed at the way the Prime Minister has been kicking the motherland in the face because she was joining the ECM. In conversation with several Tories I know that very many voted the Liberal ticket and some even the NDP.

Perhaps they recalled the words of the poet who wrote: "England gave me birth here and here did England help me, how can I help England." Mr. McPhillips has never repudiated the action of his leader and in your issue of the 19th you say he wiped at his slim edge. Next time if this is continued he will be another "also ran."

WALTER HILEY,
Queenswood Street.

Diabetics to Camp

In reply to our recent appeal for help in sending diabetic children to camp, we received the support of many members of our community.

On behalf of the Victoria Branch of the Canadian Diabetic Association, I would like to express our thanks and appreciation to all those who so generously donated to this fund, and particularly to those who gave their time to go out and tag.

Those children who are going to attend this camp are eagerly looking forward to their holiday, and we of the executive, are most grateful for the support that has been given. They will not only enjoy the camp as a holiday but will receive valuable training in the treatment of their own condition.

We sincerely hope that everyone who has helped us with this project feels that it is worthy of their support.

MARY E. O'BRIEN,
Corresponding Secretary, CDA.

Election Day 'Drought'

I agree with Norman Cobbins (Here and There, June 21) that this is the age of restriction and we are being pushed around too much these days.

But I think it is largely our fault, because we Canadians seem to live in awe of authority. We bow to the dictates of petty government bureaucrats, saleswomen in the stores, building inspectors, small town cops and even waitresses in cafés.

It is time we got up and questioned that capital "A" authority. I would certainly like to know who ordered that Canadians may not drink on election day. Is that they (whoever they are) think we have no judgment left after we have had a drink? I am sure the people of England and Europe are not treated like this.

Independence for Algeria—and a Severe Test Ahead

By William Millinship, From Algiers

THE flickering Secret Army resistance in Oran looks old-fashioned and pointless from Algiers, where the battle is over and the inevitability of independence in a few days is accepted. But this city, much damaged by the war, now has a drab, hang-dog look.

Muslim workmen are clearing away debris of the shattered town hall. Above them, a tricolor flag hangs from a pole precariously attached to the frame of a broken window.

All over the city, the OAS scorched earth policy has left gutted schools, windowless offices with sagging floors, burnt-out shops and smashed villas. The political war of slogans has rubbed an ugly smear over all the walls.

Except in former OAS strongholds, the Muslims have obliterated the Secret Army slogans with black paint. National Liberation Front (FLN) slogans, painted in green, have taken their place. "Vive le FLN," "Vote Yes for your Future," and "Only one hero—the People." The same words have been daubed on the blue and white Algiers buses, on lorries and private cars.

The only referendum posters are FLN exhortations to vote "Yes" on July 1 for independence, co-operation with France and for a democratic republic.

No Discrimination

The Europeans are promised there will be no discrimination against them. The stream of refugees leaving for France is increasing as the take-over date approaches. "When are you leaving?" is the first question Europeans put to each other when they meet in the street. The exodus is contagious.

There are no official figures of the number of Europeans who have already left Algiers itself, but the effects of the exodus are only too obvious. There are hardly any women in the streets of the European districts. The great majority of shops, bars and restaurants are closed. Those still open are short-staffed.

The Europeans are morose and there is no fight left in them. Those who remain feel lonely, powerless and afraid of the future in spite of FLN assurances. Some of those still willing to discuss politics seem anti-French.

One wealthy settler, who has no intention of leaving, told me he would vote "No" on Sunday, because "Algeria should take complete independence and refuse to cooperate with France"—the ultimate in Mediterranean political switches.

Mass Departures

The mass departures are undoubtedly worrying the Muslims. With exception, they insist there will be no room for hatred and revenge in the new Algeria, despite all the horrors of the OAS terrorist campaign. At Boufarik, a market town in the rich plain south of Algiers, I was told that a Muslim who had chalked an anti-European slogan on the wall had been forced by FLN officials to lick it off.

FLN loudspeaker vans tour the town, urging the Europeans to stay on. The appeal ends "Long live independent Algeria and renewed Franco-Muslim switches."

DENNIS THE MENACE

From Our Files

June 29, 1902 — London: In the camps of visiting colonial troops, Mohammedans, Brahmins, and fetish worshippers, whether from China, India, Fiji, Africa or Canada, are supplicating their deity on behalf of His Majesty.

June 29, 1922 — Chief Belanger of Montreal told convention of Chief Constables of Canada, meeting in Victoria, that immigration should be restricted to keep out undesirables.

June 29, 1942 — Cairo: German armored columns have advanced within 100 miles of Alexandria.

The arrangement involved in the present complaint was first described in detail before a House investigating committee in 1953. It was aired again before the McClellan Committee four years later.

What puzzles us is why no one in the justice department discovered until now that a situation in which a union leader was accused of breaking a strike and then benefiting from a dummy corporation set up in his wife's name might constitute a violation of a law passed in 1947.

We are also puzzled about why no officers of the company involved are named as co-defendants with Hoffa. If there were illegal payments, the illegality was as much on the part of those who made them as those who received them.

We hold no brief for Hoffa, whose transgressions of trade union morality are too numerous to need rehearsal. We are aware that he has a legal battery big enough to make up a bar association in its own right and that, under a constitutional change he instituted last year, the whole union treasury is available to pay for his defence. But the law should be applied equally.

DRILLING FOR WATER DAIRY STRUCK LAKE

VERNON (CP) — A Vernon dairy which drilled for water to avoid increased water charges has dug dirt or pay water.

Officials of the Shuswap-Okanagan Dairies Industries Co-operative said Thursday their driller hit a gusher 352 feet down which is now supplying water at the rate of 300 gallons a minute.

Driller Frank Marks said the drill pipe apparently tapped an underground lake at least 56 feet deep and one of the biggest he knows of in B.C.

Temperature of the water is cool 48 degrees. It will be used for the dairy's cooling plant.

JFK Trade Bill Okayed by House

RUSS TOURING IN OWN CARS

PARIS (AP) — Russian tourists now are coming to France in private automobiles. Even in cars, the Russian tourists stick together, and some were much too close together Wednesday. Four cars in a convoy of nine suffered bent fenders when one car slowed down.

Man Convicted On Forgery Count

Gordon Kenneth vanDykhuizen, was convicted and remanded in Saanich police court Thursday of forging two cheques on Feb. 23 this year for $195 and $165.

His trial before Magistrate William Ostler, ended a week ago and was adjourned to Thursday for judgment.

An RCMP handwriting expert had testified during the trial that a sample of vanDykhuizen's writing tallied exactly with writing on the two cheques.

The sailor was remanded for pre-sentence probation report.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives passed President Kennedy's sweeping new trade expansion bill Thursday after bowing over a Republican move to continue the present program.

The bill was sent to the Senate by a vote of 298 to 125.

Passage of the measure came quickly after a 233-to-171 vote against substituting for the Kennedy program a Republican-sponsored bill that would have provided for a one-year extension of the present trade law with its depleted bargaining power.

On this key vote 43 Republicans joined 210 Democrats in defeating the substitution, while 44 Democrats and 127 Republicans were recorded for it.

Kennedy, who made a special appeal for passage of the bill at his press conference Wednesday, expressed gratification at the House action. He said it "reflects the national character of this legislation as well as its importance."

TO STAR IN SWAN LAKE

Canadian Ballerina Rehearses in Kiev

KIEV, Russia (Reuters) — for the star role in Swan Lake in the Kiev theatre where she began her ballet career.

Miss Samtsova, one of the leading dancers of the National Ballet Company of Canada and now married to Canadian, Alec Ursulak, returned to her native Ukraine five weeks ago to see her family.

She dances in the ornate chandeliered 2,000-seat Shevchenko Opera and Ballet Theatre Saturday with Ukrainian ballet star Alfred Novachuk.

Miss Samtsova said between rehearsals in the theatre Thursday: "I am very happy to be in Kiev again and also to dance Swan Lake in this wonderful theatre."

Miss Samtsova said Jocelyn Terelle, another National Ballet member, is with her in Kiev but will not dance in Swan Lake Saturday because she has a "bad foot."

Soldiers Raise $700

Members of Work Point's army garrison recently raised $700 for the Salvation Army through donations by soldiers. Garrison commander, Lt.-Col. R. F. Bruce, PCPLI, presented a cheque for that amount to local Salvation Army officers on Monday.

Guiness Wins Award

BERLIN (AP) — British movie actor Sir Alec Guiness was presented the Selznick Golden Laurel Trophy Thursday night for the actor who has contributed most to international understanding. It is a new trophy in the series awarded by American moviemaker David O. Selznick for 13 years to non-American movies promoting international understanding.

Faulk contended that a bulletin of Aware, published Feb. 10, 1956, falsely accused him of pro-Communist sympathies. He said Hartnett prepared the material and Johnson was instrumental in distributing it to broadcasting and advertising representatives.

After deliberating only four hours, the jury awarded Faulk an aggregate of $1,000,000 compensatory damages against the three defendants, and punitive damages of $1,250,000 each from Aware and Hartnett. The judge had ruled that no punitive damages could be collected from Johnson's estate.

Faulk contended that a bulletin of Aware, published Feb. 10, 1956, falsely accused him of pro-Communist sympathies. He said Hartnett prepared the material and Johnson was instrumental in distributing it to broadcasting and advertising representatives.

Immigrants Beat New Curb in U.K.

LONDON (AP) — A final rush of Commonwealth immigrants poured into London Airport today in advance of Sunday's deadline on uncontrolled entries into Britain.

During a three-day period ending tomorrow night some 20 special flights will have brought 1,250 immigrants from India, Pakistan, Africa, the Mediterranean and the West Indies, airport officials said.

An even larger total are arriving by roundabout routes, almost every flight from continental points this morning had some Pakistanis aboard.

Home Secretary Richard Butler told the House of Commons Thursday that about 450,000 Commonwealth immigrants have entered Britain from the West Indies, Asia, Africa and the Mediterranean since 1953.

The Commonwealth immigration laws shutting off this flow was adopted by Parliament after a series of heated debates.

Supporters of the legislation said Britain could be swamped by an unchecked surge of people. Opponents maintained the measure had a color bar connotation.

VICTORIAN GETS HALF OF REWARD

VANCOUVER (CP) — Earl Fielding, a Seattle bus driver and Robert J. McMichael of Victoria have been awarded an equal share of an $11,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of self-confessed slayer Charles Heathman.

Heathman, twice convicted by juries on a charge of murder in the strangling death of Verne newsboy Donald Ottley was arrested in Seattle.

Earlier he had confessed to the slaying — once to a newspaper and once to Seattle detectives.

Arrested on a warrant under the Mental Health Act, he was later committed to an indefinite term at Essondale provincial mental institution.

The reward was posted by a radio station.

RNZN Ship Here Aug. 9

The Royal New Zealand Navy cruiser HMNZS Royalist will visit Victoria Aug. 9 to 11 in the course of a good-will visits to North Pacific ports.

The former flagship of the New Zealand Navy is slightly smaller than the RCN's old cruiser Ontario, and carries a peacetime complement of 550 officers and men. She now wears the pennant of the senior officer afloat.

After her visits here, the Royalist will be at Vancouver Aug. 14 to 20, then a series of U.S. ports before exercising with units of the U.S. Navy.

KERR, EYES MAY CLASH . . .

. . . AT VICTORIA HIGH SATURDAY

Star-Studded Field Ready for Times Track Meet

The Times Centennial track and field championships are assured of the largest number of competitors in the history of the event.

Now if the spectators show up in droves for the Saturday cinder show, meet director Bob Hutchison will really be happy.

The profits from the Vancouver Island meet are used to augment the YMCA track and field fund, and each year the profits have grown as Victorians have come to recognize the meet as the finest of its kind on the island.

Hutchison hopes profits will continue to grow, for increased profits mean an increased track program. The benefits are obvious.

Over 280 athletes, from world class to novices, have signified their intention of competing. To handle the load, the meet has been split for the first time into two sections—a junior competition starting at 1.30 in the afternoon, and an open show starting at 7 p.m. Both sections will be staged at Victoria High School's Gyro track.

The Times-YMCA meet has been the scene of many stirring duels, and this year should be no exception. It has also been the scene of many broken records—and again, this year should be no exception.

The most action should come in the men's races, with the 880 grabbing a particular amount of attention, if George Kerr of Jamaica (and Oregon State University) decides to compete at that distance. He may compete at 440 instead—in which case that should be an outstanding race.

Kerr is the fellow who picked up a bronze medal in the half-mile at the Rome Olympics. Recently he has been running the quarter as if he were born to it, and Hutchison doesn't know which event he will choose to enter at Vie High.

Whichever distance he goes at, he will have plenty of competition.

In the 880 the main threat will be Don Berioua of Rossland, who finished third in the recent NCAA meet in a very good field.

JOHN VALIANT

He has been under 1.50 for the distance a number of times.

But dark-horses are swarming about like flies, in the persons of John Valiant of Victoria, Barry Adams of Vancouver, and Ralph Morris of Saskatchewan.

Valiant has been hampered by a series of injuries in his freshman year at Washington State University, but he is looking good at present and is itching for competition.

Adams is a frost at the University of Oregon, where he is being touted as a possible future great. He did 1.55 in high school, which is not exactly standing still, and has improved since then.

About Morris, little in the way of times is available—but those who have seen him run say that rival on the scene, has logged 9.7 and 21.8 and could surprise West, an all-around athlete has also entered the broad jump.

The women's sprints could also be interesting, with two Victoria high school girls—Vicki Sargeant and Gaynor Vosburgh—testing perennial winner Heather Campbell.

In the field events, the name of Bob Reid of Vancouver, long-time top Canadian pole vaulter, stands out.

And then there are the junior events . . .

But the list could go on for ever; it's much easier to come out and see for yourself in the 31 junior and 21 open events.

1.30 and 7 p.m., Saturday, Victoria High School. The show is ready and waiting.

Todd, Hitchens Clash in Final

VANCOUVER — Mrs. Margaret Todd of Victoria set out today in search of her fourth B.C. women's Close golf championship.

The veteran Mrs. Todd on Thursday defeated Shirley Naysmith 2 and 1 to win the right to meet 18-year-old Gayle Hitchens of Vancouver in the final. Miss Hitchens beat defending champion Janet MacWha on the 19th in a come-from-behind performance.

Today's final was over 36 holes.

PUTTING WOES

Mrs. Todd played a steady game throughout against Mrs. Naysmith, who had trouble caring her short putts.

Mrs. Todd was one up after nine holes and then took the 14th, 15th and 16th to clinch the match after Mrs. Naysmith had captured the 11th and 12th.

The match ended on the 16th as Mrs. Todd parred the hole while Mrs. Naysmith picked up a double bogey.

Miss Hitchens, meanwhile, grabbed her victory when Miss

MacWha flubbed a three-foot putt on the 345-yard 19th hole. It would have given her a par four to stay even with Miss Hitchens, who got to the green in two and then two-putted.

SECOND MEETING

Miss Hitchens was down two going into the back nine, and she was still two down after 14. Then she took the 15th and, on the 16th, got a break when Miss MacWha's wedge took a bad bounce off a knoll forcing her to take a bogey to Gayle's par four.

Both had 79 on the 18 holes.

Today's final marked the second meeting between Miss Hitchens and Mrs. Todd. They tangled last year in the women's PNGA at Victoria, with Mrs. Todd emerging victorious.

The winner of today's match is to be awarded an automatic berth on the four-woman B.C. provincial team.

SOCcer STAR ALEX STEWART DEAD AT 51

Alex (Scotty) Stewart of Victoria, well known as a soccer player from 1928-1936, died suddenly in Vancouver Thursday while on vacation.

He was 51.

Mr. Stewart, who was born in Esquimalt, played for Esquimalt from 1928 to 1932. Then he shifted to Nanaimo for one year, during which his club went to the Canadian final. He then finished off his playing days with Victoria West, from 1934 to 1936.

His sons also play soccer, with Alex competing for Evans in the Victoria and District League and Don playing for Esquimalt.

UPSET LEADERS

Merchants Cash In On Wilson's Woes

Four runs were enough—but don't remind Les Wilson of it.

Wilson, catcher for Gorge Hotel of the Heywood Senior Softball League, could do nothing right in the first inning of Thursday's game with Merchants.

The result of two passed balls and an error by Wilson was the only runs Merchants got in their 4-2 victory over the Gorgemans.

Now Esso Imperials get a chance to move up a half game when they meet Morrisons tonight at 6:45. If they win, vs. Morrisons, 6:45, Heywood Park.

Next game: tonight—Imperials vs. Morrisons, 6:45, Heywood Park.

TRIPS CHAMPION

Watching hopefully while putt rolls toward hole is 18-year-old Gayle Hitchens, who ousted defending champion Janet MacWha at 19th hole Thursday in semifinal of B.C. women's Close golf tournament. Miss Hitchens faced Victoria's Margaret Todd in today's final. (CP Photo.)

World Soccer Cup final between Brazil and Czechoslovakia will be shown on the CBC-TV network (channels 2 and 6 in Victoria), Sunday, starting at 2 p.m.

Cup Final on TV

Top-seeded Rod Harvey on Thursday beat Geoff Field, and Field's brother Rich, second-ranked, eliminated Rod's brother Brian.

Tonight's draw follows:

5-00—Weicker and Harvey vs. winner of McLeay-Gilligan/Welker-Harvey; Lee Lee and W. Davis vs. winner Gray-Mearns-Dunn.

STEALS NO. 41

Even though the Dodgers tied the score in the bottom of the eighth on Maury Wills' triple and Gilligan's single, Casey had his day in the sun. Wills also stole his 41st base of the season during the contest.

Ken Mackenzie, who relieved Al Jackson in the eighth, was the loser.

The Philadelphia Phillies knocked the San Francisco Giants out of first place and snapped their five-game winning streak, 7-2, and the Chicago Cubs handed the St. Louis Cardinals their first loss in six games, 7-2.

YANKEES CLIMB

In the American League, the New York Yankees took over second place and moved within 1½ games of the idle first-place Cleveland Indians with a 4-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins; the Baltimore Orioles blanked the Chicago White Sox, 6-0; the Los Angeles Angels hopped all over the Boston Red Sox, 19-7, and the Kansas City A's walloped the Washington Senators, 10-7.

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — Jack Bionda returned to the floor of Queen's Park Arena wearing New Westminster colours for the first time Thursday night and helped put his teammates within one game of league-leading Vancouver as New Westminster defeated Nanaimo 6-2 in the Inter-City Lacrosse League.

Playing against his Nanaimo teammates of 1960-61, Bionda picked up three goals, one assist and three stitches in the back of his head after he was cut during a scuffle in front of the Nanaimo goal.

New Westminster took an early lead, finishing the first period on top 3-1. They held onto the margin as each team scored three times in the second and once in the third, then ran away with five goals to Nanaimo's one in the final quarter.

THREE FOR PARNELL

Paul Parnell also scored three goals giving him a league high of 34 for the season, for New Westminster and picked up two assists. Other New Westminster goals came from Doug Wallsmith, Ron Loftus, Ivan Stewart, Cliff Sepka and Barry Brownlee.

Ed McDonald led the Nanaimo attack with three goals with Ted Lieblich, Al Fearon and Larry Clarkson scoring one each.

Twenty-nine minutes in penalties were handed out, 17 of them to Nanaimo.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT
By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—If you want to be the wit of the party, just tick these away in your memory. . . .

"When people don't want to go to ball games, there's just nothin' you can do to stop 'em," Yogi Berra. . . . Ann Corio, star of "This Was Burlesque," telling of the speed with which Hollywood used to make jungle pictures, said, "They didn't want the pictures good. They wanted them Thursday."

"One of my chief regrets during my years in the theatre is that I couldn't sit in the audience and watch me act" (John Barrymore).

Groucho Marx turned to a toastmaster and said: "Thanks for your warm introduction of me. I've heard Nixon speak with more enthusiasm of the three Kennedy brothers".

Praising Spyros Skouras, Groucho said: "He spoke the immortal words that changed the motion picture industry. He said, 'Gentlemen (at that time there were a few in the business), from now on we will put 2c worth of melted butter on the popcorn and charge an extra dime'.

"The trouble with rock 'n' roll is that you can't tell when the record's worn out" (Irish D' gest).

Attention Liz Taylor and Richard Burton: Sir Cedric Hardwicke relates that when George Bernard Shaw observed a leading man and leading lady desperately trying to upstage each other, he snapped, "Please! I call this play 'Caesar' and Cleopatra, not 'Caesar versus Cleopatra'!"

"A starlet is a girl ready to take all her clothes off occasionally so she can put on fur coats again" (Jan Blocker). "Take on Italian and you have an artist; two Italians and you have a duet; three Italians and you have an orchestra; four Italians and you have two political parties" (Esquire).

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day. This plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active. Adv.

George A. Selivanoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Selivanoff, 3154 Carroll Street, received a master of arts degree in International Relations at graduation ceremonies of American University, Washington, D.C., recently.

A graduate of UBC, he received the Massey Fellowship award in 1960-61, and the Hall of Nations Scholar award in 1961-62.

He plans to enter the Canadian civil service.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by chin readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Jane Ford, age 13, of Gastonia, N.C., for her question:

What is Diatomaceous Earth?

We use this special earth to clean out the bathtub and scour the sink. There may be some of it even in our toothpaste. In industry, diatomaceous earth is used as a filter to sift out particles of impurities from fluids and syrups. There is a clue to its nature in the word diatom, which is the name of countless small water dwelling members of the plant world.

Diatomaceous earth is made of hard and gritty particles, so small and fine that the substance feels smooth to the touch. This is one reason why it makes a wonderful cleaning agent—it scrapes off the dirt without scraping the smooth face of the shining porcelain in the wash basin.

The diatomaceous earth in cleansing powders is a gift of the plant world. Its tiny, gritty particles were made by diatoms which seemed in the ancient seas millions of years ago. There have been diatoms for a hundred million years and they still thrive in salt and fresh water all over the world.

It is sad that the diatoms are too small for our eyes to see, for they are like fairy boxes, each one more beautiful than the next. Most of them measure about 1,000 to an inch. They are microscopic relatives of the water-loving algae, including the various seaweeds.

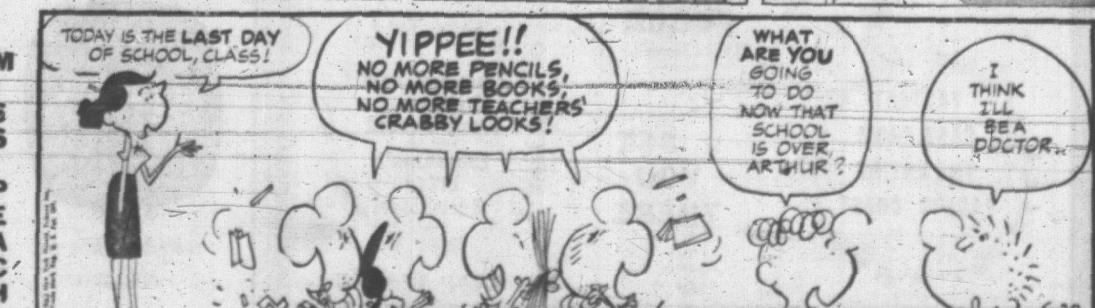

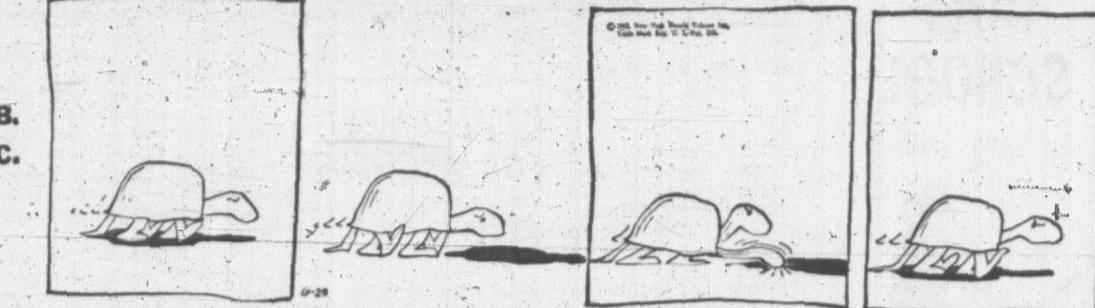

Each diatom is a tiny, yellowish brown body inside a pair of matching shells. It has green chlorophyll which it uses to make plant color. The shells are made from silica, one of the hardest of the natural minerals.

Shells Button-Shaped

The twin shells which encase the diatoms are held together with a thin girdle around the waist. They may be shaped like buttons or diamonds, squares, oblongs or diamonds, stars or sticks. But each little box is sure to be ornately ornamented with a design of ridges and grooves or humps and hollows or spikes and buttons.

In the remote past, countless trillions of diatoms lived and died and their dainty shells sifted to the sandy floor of the seas. When stretches of shallow seas dried up, the old sea beds became layers of diatomaceous earth.

Some 15 million years ago, what is now central California was flooded by shallow seas. Countless trillions of tiny diatoms lived and died in the sunny waters, adding piles of microscopic shells to the sea bed. Later the area became dry land and gritty diatom shells were mixed with the rich soil. In places where the shells are concentrated, the diatomaceous earth is mined for use as a cleansing powder.

Eggs Prohibited As Loss Leader

Vancouver Island farmers are jubilant over a Vancouver Magistrate Court's judgment ruling that a chain store had no right to sell eggs as a loss leader.

The chain store was found guilty of violating the Commonwealth's Minimum Loss Act when it used eggs as a loss leader.

The charge against the store was laid by the B.C. Federation of Agriculture when Vancouver chain stores became engaged last March in an egg price war.

It was test case to determine the constitutionality of the provincial act.

Charles E. S. Walls, manager of the federation and speaking for Island farmers, said: "Chain stores will now think twice before using an agricultural raw product as a loss leader."

IN VENTURE CLASS

Island Men Graduating

Four Vancouver Island officer cadets—two from Victoria—are among the 24 who will graduate from HMCS Venture, the Royal Canadian Navy's officer training establishment in HMC Dockyard on Friday July 20.

They are officer cadets:

Philip L. Johnston, 19, 1585 Clive Drive, Victoria.

Keith G. Nesbit, 20, 1466 Mitchell Street, Victoria.

Douglas S. Mitchell, 19, 10467 All Bay Road, Sidney.

Terence L. Wolfe-Milner, 19, R.R. 1, Ganges, Salt Spring Island.

The graduation ceremony will take place on the parade ground of HMCS Venture at 2 p.m. when the cadets will be inspected by Rear Admiral E. W. Finch-Noyes, Flag Officer, Pacific Coast.

Earlier, at 11 a.m., there will be a special graduation service in the Chapel-by-the-Sea at HMC Dockyard.

Among the 24 graduates are three Belgian cadets who will return to Belgium on leave this month.

WHAT DID THEY SEE?

Morbid curiosity might be title of this picture by free-lancer Robin Clarke. Two women bystanders crowd forward to see result of pole-wrap crash Thursday evening on Rockland Avenue near St. Francis Wood. What they saw was driver Robert Taylor, 1725 Beach Drive, being removed semi-conscious from jumbled interior of wreck, with head and chest injuries. His condition in hospital today was reported to be "fair." Taylor, driving alone, crashed pole on winding street while travelling in a northerly direction. Violence of impact is indicated by windshield, on ground, which apparently "exploded" from the car when it hit.

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, JUNE 29, 1962—PAGE 15

MONTE ROBERTS

From time to time, people I've met or worked with in other parts—Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal, New York, Vancouver, for instance—turn up in this, the Fairest City of Them All.

And in nearly every instance, these people are most polite about this, the FC of TA, and dutifully ooh and ah and admire the scenery.

More often than not, though, the visitors make it obvious that they wonder what in the world I am doing in this backwash of the sea of commerce, when I might well be making a zillion dollars (well, maybe only a skillion) in the heartland of big business, far across the sea and mountains, or at least across the Gulf of Georgia.

Sometimes they even ask me, right out, and I have been hard put to explain.

So I was pleased to receive, the other day, a copy of TIME Incorporated's employee letter which, among other things, had high praise for the manner in which Lawrence Lessing, an associate editor of Fortune magazine, copes with working in Rockefeller Centre and living in comfort.

Mr. Lessing—who does, indeed, make a zillion dollars, or at the very least a half-zillion—lives in a place with the delightful name of Upper Black Eddy, Pa.

He must like it in Upper Black Eddy, Pa., because it is a mile farther than a 20-minute subway ride.

In fact, on a good day, Mr. Lessing can get into his office in as little as two and one-half hours.

To do this, he has to surmount rather uncertain road conditions which maintain in the Delaware River Valley. For this purpose, he drives a four-wheel drive jeep, in which he navigates 40 miles of so-called road.

He then dusts off his Brooks Bros. suit and his alligator-skin briefcase, and boards a more-or-less modern Jersey Central Railway train in Raritan, N.J.

At Elizabeth, N.J., he debarks from the more-or-less modern train and fights his way onto a far-from-modern commuting car, which, with luck, takes him all the way into New York City.

Refreshed by this invigorating matutinal manouevre, and cheered by the prospect of carrying it out in reverse later in the day, Mr. Lessing then plunges into his day's work.

And people ask me why I live in This, the Fairest City of Them All!

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Charges of operating in an area for which they were not licensed brought two trucking firms into Saanich magistrate's court on Thursday.

Anderon and Moar Trucking Ltd., of Ashcroft, was fined $15 for delivering a load of lumber for a Victoria logging company.

A Calgary firm, Interior Motor Transport, was remanded to July 6 for pleading guilty to seven charges arising from the by-law.

* * *
Ald. A. W. Toome Thursday said he doubted that the federal austerity program would affect the city's ability to carry out its proposed urban renewal program.

The federal government's contribution towards the cost of this work comes through Central Mortgagé and Housing which is set up by an act of Parliament," he said.

* * *
City council today was to decide whether or not a temporary centennial pedestrian mall would be established on Broad, between Fort and Broughton.

Victoria Centennial Society has applied for permission to block off the street from July 27 to Aug. 4 so the Junior Chamber of Commerce could set up centennial displays and street shows.

If council agrees, it will be the first time that the long-mooted concept of a pedestrian mall will be viewed by Victorians. Original idea came more than five years ago. Merchants in the proposed block asked for it about two years ago.

Delegates from B.C., Alaska, Washington, Oregon, Montana and Alberta are attending a conference of the Christian Family Movement which opens today in St. Patrick's School and will continue until Sunday night.

Five companies were given a further adjournment without plea in city police court this morning, when they were due to be tried on charges of contravening Victoria's smoke bylaw.

B.C. Forest Products Ltd., Capital Iron and Metals Ltd., McCarter Shingle Co., Moore Whitington Lumber Co., and Smith Cedar Products Ltd. are to be tried on July 4 for seven charges arising from the by-law.

A petition by 12 merchants located on and near the 1100 block Meares today asked city council to inaugurate a two-hour parking limit to eliminate all-day parkers.

* * *
City Hall's special transportation committee today recommended that council formally designate 21 bus stops as such to legalize a number of recent changes in location.

* * *
Saanich municipality has changed the name of Guernsey Road to Sapphire Road to facilitate household mail delivery, an official said today.

The post office requested the change after it extended house delivery to Guernsey Road, in the Cordova Bay district, and found confusion arose with Guernsey Street in Oak Bay.

At the annual general meeting held recently, it was decided to change the name of the Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Operatic Society. Future productions will be presented under the title Victoria Operatic Society. The following officers and advisory board were elected: Ellis Todd, president; Margaret Duff, vice-president; Evelyn Rogers, secretary; Gwynedd Hughes, assistant secretary; Gwen Glew, treasurer; Frank Brown, James Mead-Robins, Frank Slater, Janet Senior, Walter Clements and Peggy Dyson, board members.

Delegates from B.C., Alaska, Washington, Oregon, Montana and Alberta are attending a conference of the Christian Family Movement which opens today in St. Patrick's School and will continue until Sunday night.

DRIVER WINS Court Rules Drink Had Not Taken Effect

A man may drive a car with sufficient alcohol in him to be potentially intoxicated, and still not be guilty of impaired driving. Magistrate William Ostler ruled in police court this morning.

Case against Glen W. Hanson was dismissed, although four prosecution witnesses supported charges of impaired driving, testifying that at the time they had contact with Hanson his ability to drive a motor vehicle was impaired by alcohol.

Charges arose from an accident on June 16, when Hanson's car struck one driven by a Vancouver social worker, Edward Teather, on Gorge Road in front of the Redwood Motel.

INCOHERENT

Constables Ivan Purdie and Lawrie Belfrie of the city police testified that when they questioned Hanson after the accident—about 7:35 p.m. on June 16—he was incoherent, unsteady on his feet, and smelled of alcohol.

He agreed to take a sobriety test at the police station, and was examined there by Dr. E. L. McNiven, who estimated the alcohol level in his blood to be about .13 or .14 per cent.

(Medical opinion is that all persons are impaired at the .15 level, none are impaired below the .05 level, and a level between these two may mean impairment depending on the individual.)

Dr. McNiven informed the officers that he would support an impaired driving charge should one be brought.

Later, Hanson asked the desk sergeant in the charge office if he could use the telephone, and was granted permission. The sergeant's opinion was that Hanson was completely intoxicated.

CLERK TESTIFIED

Richard J. Tuthill, a clerk at the Liquor Control Board store on Johnson Street, testified for the defence that he had sold a case of beer to Hanson at about 7 p.m. and he seemed all right then.

Bernard O'Neill, who was drinking with Hanson at a Legion beer parlor earlier in the evening, said that Hanson had probably had about four bottles of beer.

Magistrate Ostler, in dismissing the charge, noted the fact that Hanson's intoxication seemed to be on a "rapidly-ascending curve," and that the prosecution witnesses bore out the defence theory that the full effects of the beer Hanson had drunk had not become evident until after the accident.

He elected trial by judge and jury, and will appear in court at the fall assizes.

The Crown alleges that Chong approached three Victoria printers and asked them to make facsimiles of department of citizenship and immigration letterheads to be used to get people out of Communist China and into Hong Kong.

Doukhobors Hired Own Lawyers

Freedomite Doukhobors have hired their own defence lawyers and no request for legal aid has been made, Attorney-General Robert Bonner said today.

He was commenting on a plea from a group of university professors in Vancouver for a $25,000 defense fund to pay legal costs for 70 Freedomites charged with conspiring to intimidate the federal and provincial governments.

"I am advised all members of the fraternal council (of Freedomites) on trial are represented by legal counsel," Mr. Bonner said.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

George Edward Kaiser, 721 Cowper, over $30; $25; inadequate muffler, $10.

Charles William Sallis, 500 Joffre, over $30, $20.

Jack Whitten Steer, 1054 Amphion, over $30, $25.

Frances Denies Mara, 820 Pemberton, wrong way in roundabout, $15.

Richard Gelinas, HMCS Assiniboine, no headlights, $15; no current license plates, $20.

Sidney Lucien Robege, 988 Dunford, crossing red light, $15.

The report was ordered in secret by council May 31 after an initial report by city manager C. C. Wyatt. Aldermen asked for an inquiry into apparent unrest in the department which was highlighted by resignation of traffic engineer Norman Worsley.

The study group—Mr. Wyatt, accountant G. F. Dunn

THREE DAYS OF ENTERTAINMENT

Navy Plans 'Whoop-de-do' In City Centenary Salute

Ship Cruises For Children In Program

An ambitious program to salute Victoria's centennial year is being planned by the RCN Pacific Command, Aug. 9 to 11 inclusive.

The "salute" was requested by the centennial committee, and details are still being ironed out in meetings with civic officials, police and fire department heads, and the centennial committee.

RCN headquarters has approved an allotment of $9,000 for the three-day operation, but additional funds may be needed to carry out tentative plans.

These call for a parade, cruises on navy ships for youngsters, close to 20 displays, both static and active, at Beacon Hill Park, diving demonstrations in Horseshoe Bay, and a giant fireworks display from a barge anchored off Beacon Hill.

NIGHT LIGHTING

The program as it now stands indicates an even bigger show than in 1956, last time the navy went on display in the park. This time, it is hoped to bring in electricity to floodlight the grounds at night, and to install a special public address system.

Meanwhile, "back on dry land," Mayor Harris has called out members of the newly established order of the Knights of the Beard to patrol downtown streets this evening to recruit new members.

Centennial Committee will offer cash prizes for the longest and most bushy beards to be produced by males this centennial year.

In addition, curly combs and centennial dollars will be given away to beards showing the permanent higher tariff on foreign-made cars.

The exception was Jack Batey, general manager of Thomas Plimley Ltd., British auto importers, and president of the Victoria Automotive Dealers' Association.

Mr. Batey contended himself with the comment that "Silence is a virtue when someone makes a statement like that."

Other dealers were not so restrained.

Eric Lewis, manager of Ensign Motors, said Mr. McPhillips' view on tariffs was "foolish." Conservative police y seemed to be to offer loans to small businesses and then to ruin them by tariffs.

TWO-WAY STREET

"It's a good thing he didn't say this before the election," declared C. J. Horwood, of Horwood Bros. Ltd.

"It wouldn't have added to his popularity."

Hugh A. Fraser, sales manager for Speedway Motors, pointed out that trade was a two-way street. If Canada wanted to sell its basic products abroad it must be prepared to buy foreign products in return.

Answering Mr. McPhillips' claim that imported cars "have been reaping a harvest for years," National Motors manager R. P. Carrere stated:

"He didn't show much foresight in that statement. He should be in the car business. It is probably one of the most highly competitive businesses in the world."

Both city and Saanich police attended the accident which occurred on the municipal boundary.

ASK The TIMES

Q. When did the first settlers arrive in Sooke? H.D.

A. 1849.

Q. Is "Esquimalt" really an Indian name and if so what does the translation of it mean? J.T.A.

A. It is a transliteration of the Indian expression "is-who-mal-th" meaning a "place gradually sloping".

Q. In view of the last issue of Canadian stamps could you please tell me who Jean Talon was? M.E.M.

A. Jean Talon served from 1665 to 1672 as intendant of Justice and Finance in New France. In order to put the colony on a sound economic basis he established a royal shipyard in Quebec, organized searches for iron and copper, and encouraged the growing of flax so that the Colonists might weave their own linen and cotton.

All questions should deal with subjects of local interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins or stamps. These should be submitted to a dealer. Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question to "Ask the Times." Questions and answers will be published daily.

TRAVELLER-RUNNER IN TIMES MEET

Now We're Called 'Bit of Olde Sweden'

By IAIN HUNTER

Anglophones take note: Greater Victoria is really just a bit of Olde Sweden.

Well-known Jamaican middle distance runner and holder of two Olympic bronze medals, George Kerr passed this judgment on our fair city and its environs immediately upon stepping from the plane at Pat Bay airport on Thursday evening.

The 23-year-old, 155-pound athlete has run in nearly every European country as well as Australia, New Zealand and the U.S. A graduate of the University of Illinois, he is taking his M.Sc. degree currently at Oregon State University.

Sweden impressed him so much that he said he would like to go to university there after taking his American degree.

Scheduled to take part in the Times-YMCA sponsored Centennial track meet on Saturday at 7 p.m. at Victoria High School, George came to the city a day earlier just to be able to take in some Island scenery before the meet.

His wanderlust was sparked by his idolization of Herb McKinley, the former Jamaican Olympic runner, who persuaded him to go to the U.S.

Besides running in meets in various countries, he has competed in two Olympics—in 1956 in Melbourne, Australia, and in 1960 in Rome, where he won two bronze medals for the West Indies in the 880 meter race and the 1,600 meter relay.

In spite of his travelling, our distinguished visitor says he manages to get home to Kingston every Christmas and summer.

After his Victoria engagement, for which he made a special trip, he will head back to Jamaica to take part in the West Indies Independence celebrations sports meet in August, and the Central American Games later.

Though he expressed his doubts about his being able to take part in yet another Olympics, George said he would not mind if he was chosen to compete in Tokyo in 1964.

After all, the veritable globetrotter as yet has not set his winged feet in the Far East.

Cheese From Everywhere To Tantalize Taste-Buds

By PENNY SAVER

Once you get over the first bite, and your mouth is full, you can't smell it any more—at least that is what customers who regularly buy limburger cheese tell the shop owner Penny talked to today. In case you are one of those people who have managed this astounding feat, shop has limburger selling at 49 cents for 7½ ounces, complete with aroma (a rather polite word!).

Shop actually caters to all tastes. They have at least 23 different kinds of cheeses—many imported. Cheeses which come in huge slabs are left that way so customer may request his own amount.

Bulk cheeses not too sharp or too mild include a Finnish edam cheese at 59 cents a pound; a Danish fynbo, the same as a Dutch gouda, at 79 cents a pound; or English Cheshire at 89 cents a pound. Mild cheese from Ontario is 69 cents a pound, while sharp variety is 85 cents a pound.

Connoisseurs will find cheeses flavored with rum or wine selling at 29 cents for a four-ounce treat. Soft-ripened cheese from France or Germany which becomes stronger the longer it is left open, may also appeal to experts in the art of eating cheese.

If you've become tired of the same old soups, you might like to try some imported varieties. These are mixes to which water must be added.

One from Switzerland is an egg scramble soup, certainly different. It and another which is a clear soupmix with macaroni shells yield four to six servings in a 27-cent package.

Owners say that the French mushroom and chicken noodle soups seem to be spicier than soups we are used to.

Added treat for this weekend is home-cured, double-smoked bacon at 65 cents a pound.

Call Penny at 382-3131 for name of shop with international flavors.

Pamper Him, Dear!

DEAR ABBY: My husband is retired. At first there was a lot to do, but after a couple of years boredom set in. Then he took up a hobby. Painting by numbers. At first I was relieved because he was no longer underfoot, nagging me. Now his painting has gotten out of hand. He has cluttered up my whole home with his terrible art. He has even taken carefully selected paintings out of their frames and put his number paintings in! I love nature and scenery, but he likes buildings, monuments and bridges. Our friends encourage him, yet none of them will put his junk in their homes. Tell me what to do.

Bride Who Works Needs Combination Exercises

Q. "I am a bride and a working girl, 25 years old, small frame, 5 feet, almost 3 inches tall and weigh 124 pounds. A year and a half ago I weighed 102 pounds. My doctor gave me vitamins and advised me to eat a lot. I don't think I weigh too much, but I would like exercises whereby I can lose in the thighs, hips and stomach."

A. You are just about the correct weight. Since you say that you have a job as well as a husband, you will probably like exercises which are effective for more than one fig ure fault. Therefore, I suggest you use my Combination Exercises. The following exercise is one of those from my leaflet. It slims both hips and abdomen. Lie on your left side. Be sure that your body is in a straight line from head to feet. Swing the right leg backward as you swing your right arm forward. The right arm moves backward as the right leg comes forward. Continue, with a long, smooth swing. Reach with the arm and toe as far as you can in each direction. After a while, turn onto the right side and swing the left leg and arm.

Q. "Will hip and thigh exercises cause broken capillaries in the legs?"

A. No.

Q. Please advise whether it's proper to wear a hat with one's costume. I've noticed that where I live the casual style seems to be the order of the day."

A. Times have changed. In the past hats were obligatory at luncheons and receptions and cocktail parties. Now the only time when a hat seems to be essential is for church. I think this is too bad in a way because hats can be so pretty and glamorous.

Q. "Having had a good deal of trouble lately I more or less neglected my figure, with the result that I now find that I am about 10 or 12 pounds overweight. Will exercise help? I am 37 years old. Is that too late to be thinking about improvement?"

I CRIED A RIVER

Hears Vows

Rev. A. I. Higgins officiated at the wedding in the social suite of First United Church that united Miss Virginia M. Morris and Grant Stephens. White magnolias, blue iris and pink peonies set floral decor.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Morris, 54 Wellington Avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Stephens, 1481 Hillside Avenue. Mr. Morris gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Kathleen Morris. Gary Parker was best man.

Following a wedding supper held at the Ingraham Hotel, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents.

After a honeymoon on the mainland the newlyweds are now making their home in Victoria.

Annual Picnic

Former residents of Melville, Sask., and district will hold their 10th annual picnic on Sunday, July 8, in Stanley Park, Vancouver, near the duck pond. Tea, coffee, sugar and cream will be provided. Picnic will be held rain or shine. Anyone wishing to attend may obtain further information from Mrs. R. V. Rowse, 1150 Cotton Drive, Vancouver, 6, B.C.

IT'S A STORY

Texan Couple Goes Ga-Ga Over Bagpipes

By PAT DUFOUR

If you see a dark-haired attractive tourist breaking into a sprint at the sound of bagpipes this week it will probably be Mrs. Barvo Walker. Trying to keep up with her will be her husband, Dr. Walker.

They flew up from Fort Worth, Texas, this week and Mrs. Walker is doing mental handstands at all the signs of Old Country traditions.

"This is our first visit to Canada," she tells you with stars in her eyes. "I've always been a real fan of the English—especially of the royal family—and I figure Victoria is as close as I can get for a while."

"I almost broke my neck on Wednesday morning, trying to get a look at the piper I heard playing on the docks."

When I met the young couple they had just taken a tour of the Parliament Buildings and the provincial museum, and were on their way to the wax museum.

Mrs. Walker was still ecstatic over the picture of the Queen which they found in the Buildings.

PAINTED QUEEN

"It looks very much like the one Douglas Chandor painted. It was the last one he did before he died. He comes from Weatherford which is just a few miles from our home town."

Although Dr. Walker shares his wife's enthusiasm for the European flair of Victoria—he is less enraptured about their hotel accommodation.

"Where we're staying I find the rooms are old and ill-kept."

His wife quickly jumps in to remonstrate. "But I like that! At home, I wouldn't go for it, but here it has charm."

Devaluation of the Canadian dollar means little or nothing to the Texan dentist and his wife. "We have Mexico almost in our backyard and, with our dollar worth 12 Mexican dollars, every time we go across the border we feel like millionaires."

Not that they have always been able to view money so dispassionately. As Dr. Walker points out: "Having more time than money it took me eight years to get my training because I had to work at the same time."

It was at an aircraft factory that they met. Both were employed as illustrators for the catalogues that the firm sent out. After they were married, Barvo continued his studies while his wife, Mackie, carried on working. She took time out to have their first child, Neil, who's now five. By the time their second, Elise, now 18 months, was born, her husband had graduated and hung up his shingle.

MADE IT UP

Dr. Walker's unusual first name he attributes to his grandmother. "She just made it up, gave it to my father. It was passed down to me and now my son has it although we call him by his middle name."

This is the couple's first glimpse of big ships and the ocean—and they find it invigorating. "It's a real change from our country. Mind you, we have lots of water—all man-made lakes where we love to go water skiing."

They're away from home for 10 days and made the trip with another couple from Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Baker.

Later this week the foursome will go up-island. Says Dr. Walker: "We want to go up north—into the wilds and do a little fishing."

Amitting that his fishing prowess isn't in the championship class he adds, "It's really the scenery we're after. I love to paint and never go anywhere without my sketch pad."

Although her drawing talents helped get them through Dr. Walker's college years, Mrs. Walker is now content to sit back and let her husband be the artist in the family.

"I'm a lady of leisure now—and love it!"

Ellen Walsh Much Feted By Friends

Saturday bride-elect, Miss Ellen Walsh has been widely entertained recently in honor of her forthcoming marriage to Mr. Bernard Leonard.

Fellow employees of the forest surveys department of the provincial government honored Miss Walsh at a surprise held in the Newport Avenue home of Mrs. R. Lewis. Guests included Mrs. S. Ockwell, Mrs. A. Whitehead, Mrs. M. Agnew, Mrs. B. Bertola, Mrs. B. Cole, Mrs. S. Horner, Mrs. M. Anderson and the Misses Jo Ann Aubel, Margie Longhurst, Jean Mallock, Selma Holmberg, Lucille Hogg, Gladys Hitchen, Bonnie Monpetit, Teresa James, Edith Andoy, Donna Evansoff and Cecile Ivatts.

At a shower in the Shirley Road home of Mrs. G. Pickard, Miss Walsh received gifts from gaily decorated laundry basket. Both she and her mother, Mrs. J. Walsh, were presented with corsages. Guests were Mrs. C. Mee, Mrs. C. Crow, Mrs. J. Rhodes, Mrs. J. King; Mrs. R. Merry, Mrs. E. Macdonald, Mrs. S. Boyko, Mrs. G. Stenning and the Misses Pat Salter, Pauline Boyko and Camilla Paul.

The bride-elect's attendants, Mrs. George Stenning and Miss Pat Salter, were co-hostesses at the home of the latter at another shower for Miss Walsh. Boyko, and the Misses Anne McConnell, Donna Henderson, Pauline Boyko and C. Boyko.

The work? "It was great fun that was, the proudest day of my life," she recalls. "I'll never forget it."

As Mrs. MacKenzie sat in the spacious grounds of their university-owned home she contemplated some of the other days she won't forget.

There were early years as a working girl, life in army huts as UBC got its start, and entertaining royalty not so long ago.

It perhaps spelled out a simple philosophy for balancing devotion to family life and to social duties.

She was a working girl in a Toronto advertising office before her marriage in 1928. She had met Norman MacKenzie four years earlier at a student conference, while he was a Dalhousie law student in Halifax and she a University of Toronto arts undergraduate.

Berserk Man Kills 6

BOGOTA, Columbia (AP) — A policeman went berserk Thursday and killed six persons in a town 140 miles from Bogota. First he shot a man and a 13-year-old girl in a house near the police station, using an automatic rifle. Next door he killed two women, each for possession of narcotics.

Police Witnesses said the six were arrested over the last few weeks in East End rooming houses. Officers seized drug

TREASURER JAILED
VANCOUVER — Credit Union treasurer Jack Ginn, 31, was jailed for three years by Assize Court Justice J. G. Hutcheson Thursday for stealing more than $25,000 and was ordered to pay back the money.

Ginn was found guilty by an Assize Court jury earlier of stealing in excess of $25,000 from the Ironworkers Credit Union by making unauthorized loans to himself.

DRUG ADDICTS JAILED
VANCOUVER — Police Court Magistrate Gordon Scott Thursday sentenced four men to prison for up to two years each for possession of narcotics.

OAS COMMANDOS GOING

Oran Moslems Revel As Terror Collapses

ORAN, Algeria (Reuters)—Joyful bands of Moslems flocked into central Oran today, marking the apparent collapse of European terrorist resistance.

The Moslems crossed over the barbed-wire barriers dividing the European and Moslem communities in this city which has been the last bastion of the European terrorist Secret Army Organization.

They marched in groups of five or six right up to the centre of the city where they have not dared venture for months. One said "It is not victory. It's peace."

His companion asked him: "Do you know your way around? It's months since we have been here. It's wonderful." Cars and trucks also drove gerian port city.

Committee Represents Both Sides

Secret Army sources said within the Moslem nationalist movement.

The split was reported to have been brought about by sharp disagreements between Mohammed Ben Bella, deputy premier in the Algerian insurgent provisional government, and insurgent Premier Ben Youcef Ben Khedda.

Ben Bella's friends in Tunis said Thursday night he had left the provisional government's base in Tunis for Tripoli, Libya, Wednesday without warning.

His departure came as a shock to Algerians in Tunis, especially with the Algerian army was marred by what appears to be a major split two days away.

Churchill Given Second Operation

Peg Inserted Close to Hip

LONDON (AP)—Surgeons operated on Sir Winston Churchill tonight to repair his fractured left thighbone.

A hospital official reported he was wheeled into an operating room in London's big Middlesex Hospital not long after he was brought by jet ambulance plane from the Riviera.

He suffered the injury in Monte Carlo when he fell while getting out of bed Thursday morning. Doctors decided on the operation after study and consultation.

Two leading orthopedic surgeons—professor Herbert John Seddon and Dr. Philip H. Newman—were given the assignment of mending the break, probably by inserting a pin at or near the hip.

Doctors at Middlesex Hospital said after his arrival there that Churchill's condition was satisfactory and as good as could be expected.

The announcement said:

"In spite of his long journey his condition is as satisfactory as can be expected and it has been decided to operate this evening."

The bulletin was signed by Lord o'Meara Churchill's personal physician, Dr. H. F. Seddon of the Royal National Orthopaedic Hospital, and Dr. Philip H. Newman, senior consultant orthopedic surgeon at the Middlesex Hospital.

The same team conducted the operation, assisted by an anaesthetist.

CHEERFUL.

Despite his injury, Churchill appeared cheerful as he was hoisted from the plane into a waiting ambulance by a fork lift normally used for loading and unloading baggage.

Churchill looked around at the doctors and ambulance attendants and raised his hand in the "V-for-Victory" salute between the doctors and the government.

Mr. Dean, Jack Hamilton, president of the Saskatchewan Association of Rural Municipalities, and Don MacMillan, president of the Saskatchewan Hospital Association, were to attend the separate, closed meetings at Saskatoon city hall. Mr. Dean said a statement would be made at the conclusion of the talks.

TO CLOSE SATURDAY.

The meetings, and the possible face-to-face meeting of the leaders in the dispute, were perhaps the last hope for settlement of the medical care dispute. Doctors have said they will close their offices at midnight Saturday and offer only free emergency service, based at hospitals.

Amendments to regulations made under the medical care insurance act, which were announced Thursday by the government, did not budge the province's doctors in their refusal to work under the legislation.

Dr. Dalgleish said the college did not doubt the regulations passed by order-in-council were in order; "but our legal advisers say this does not change the position of Saskatchewan doctors."

The Canadian Medical Association sent a telegram to Premier Lloyd Thursday urging a delay in implementation of the act and new discussions. It noted recent talks appeared to have made "some progress."

From Prince Albert, a citizens' committee similar to the "keep-our-doctors" committee formed at other centres, telegraphed an appeal to Prime Minister Diefenbaker to intervene.

In southeast Saskatchewan, Dr. T. S. Gibson said both he and his wife, practising in Gainsborough, Sask., had

OMA LAWYER SAYS DOCTOR CAN BE SUED

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto lawyer Edson L. Haines, solicitor of the Ontario Medical Association, said today Saskatchewan residents could in certain cases sue doctors who ceased to treat them.

"A doctor can't say 'I'm through' when there is no other doctor available," Mr. Haines said.

"Under law he has a continuing obligation to patients under treatment. If he leaves them he will be considered to have abandoned them and would be liable for damages."

DR. H. D. DALGLEISH ... position unchanged

MAY BE LAST HOPE

New Attempt At Medicare By Mediation

REGINA (CP)—Mediation meetings will be held today in Saskatoon in an attempt to bring together the principals in a dispute over the province's Medical Care Insurance Act.

Mayor Roy Dean of North Battleford, Sask., president of the Saskatchewan Urban Municipalities Association, said separate meetings would be held with Premier Woodrow Lloyd and Dr. H. D. Dalgleish, president of the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons.

It was hoped that following these meetings the two leaders would meet in an attempt to resolve an impasse between the doctors and the government.

Mr. Dean, Jack Hamilton, president of the Saskatchewan Association of Rural Municipalities, and Don MacMillan, president of the Saskatchewan Hospital Association, were to attend the separate, closed meetings at Saskatoon city hall. Mr. Dean said a statement would be made at the conclusion of the talks.

Imported Liquor Up, Then Down

Prices of imported liquor, the readjustment will be made downwards. If cabinet authority can be cleared through the reductions might go into effect Saturday.

But whether the public will get the benefit before the coming holiday weekend or afterwards was not definite this morning.

Attorney-General Bonner, who discussed the price situation with Liquor Commissioner Donald McGugan this morning, said he might have an announcement later today.

The 25 per cent boost at the retail level was applied over a wide range of imported stocks last Monday morning immediately after the austerity tariffs were announced in Ottawa Sunday. The increase also took into account the devalued dollar.

Since then the government has learned the tariff applies only to its wholesale price, so of votes cast June 18.

Isherwood Asks Recount

Victoria Liberal Foster Isherwood said he was applying for a judicial recount of federal election ballots this afternoon.

He was to appear before County Court Judge J. B. Cleary.

"All my friends and supporters have urged me to do it," said Mr. Isherwood. "They feel it is justified in view of the closeness of the election."

Mr. Isherwood was 216 votes behind Conservative A. DeB. McPhillips after the final tally.

girl dies in flames

VANCOUVER (CP)—An eight-year-old girl died today in her blazing east-end Vancouver home and her father was critically burned.

At least two other children were rescued as three men in the house fled uninjured.

Dead is Susan McNeil. Firemen found her suffocated and burned to death in an upstairs bedroom.

In hospital in poor condition is the father, Ken McNeil, 45.

Two of the men who fled the house were taken to police headquarters for questioning.

Civil Service Cut Studied at Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—A reduction earlier. It was indicated that in civil service staff is one of one method of trimming the federal payroll could involve several economies being studied by the government in its move on new employees and replacing stricker controls on appointment to cut expenditures, a senior finance department official said civil service.

The official said that directions have been sent to all departments on "a wide range" of economy moves in the austerity program to cut government expenditures by $250,000.

THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

JUNE 29

A report from British Columbia says the caravans, which were at Victoria for several weeks, have started for Cariboo from Lillooet with heavy packs. One of them was killed by falling down a precipice near Pavilion Creek.

About 30 Indians encamped at Hospital Point, Esquimalt, and naval authorities are afraid they might spread smallpox among the fleet. Police say they don't know what to do about the situation.

Word was received from San Francisco of the death of a Victoria pioneer, James Bell, the former hardware merchant. Mr. Bell came here in 1858, and was very successful in business until forced by ill-health to sell out and retire in California. He died of consumption.

Hope Minister Churchill's hip ends with a hooray.

O' course th' country's basically prosperous. It c'd even afford Mister Diefenbaker without scarcely goin' broke, couldn't it?

Th' question ain't so much th' severity as th' severity.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a copy of the new World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Jane Ford, age 13, of Gastonia, N.C., for her question:

What Is Diatomaceous Earth?

We use this special earth to clean out the bathtub and scour the sink. There may be some of it even in our toothpaste. In industry, diatomaceous earth is used as a filter to sift out particles of impurities from fluids and syrups. There is a clue to its nature in the word diatom, which is the name of countless small water dwelling members of the plant world.

Diatomaceous earth is made of hard and gritty particles, so small and fine that the substance feels smooth to the touch. This is one reason why it makes a wonderful cleaning agent—it scrapes off the dirt without scraping the smooth face of the shining porcelain in the wash basin.

Each diatom is a tiny, yellowish brown body inside a pair of matching shells. It has green chlorophyll which it uses to make plant color. The shells are made from silica, one of the hardest of the natural minerals.

Shells Button-Shaped

The twin shells which encase the diatom are held together with a thin girdle around the waist. They may be shaped like buttons or squares, ovals or diamonds, stars or sticks. But each little shell is sure to be ornately ornamented with a design of ridges and grooves or humps and hollows or spikes and buttons.

In the remote past, countless trillions of diatoms lived and died and their dainty shells sifted to the oozy floor of the seas. When stretches of shallow seas dried up, the old sea beds became layers of diatomaceous earth.

Some 15 million years ago, what is now central California was flooded by shallow seas. Countless trillions of tiny diatoms lived and died in the sunny waters, adding piles of microscopic shells to the sea bed. Later the area became dry land and gritty diatom shells were mixed with the rich soil. In places where the shells are concentrated, the diatomaceous earth is mined to make cleansing powder.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe result. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Narcan Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day and follow the Narcan plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly fat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active. Adv.

He plans to enter the Canadian civil service.

WHAT DID THEY SEE?

Morbid curiosity might be title of this picture by free-lancer Robin Clarke. Two women bystanders crowd forward to see result of pole-wrap crash Thursday evening on Rockland Avenue near St. Francis Wood. What they saw was driver Robert Taylor, 1725 Beach Drive, being removed semi-conscious from jumbled interior of wreck, with head and chest injuries. His condition in hospital today was reported to be "fair." Taylor, driving alone, crashed pole on winding street while travelling in a northerly direction. Violence of impact is indicated by windshield, on ground, which apparently "exploded" from the car when it hit.

MONTE ROBERTS

From time to time, people I've met or worked with in other parts—Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal, New York, Vancouver, for instance—turn up in this, the Fairest City of Them All.

And in nearly every instance, these people are most polite about this, the FC of TA, and dutifully ooh and ah and admire the scenery.

More often than not, though, the visitors make it obvious that they wonder what in the world I am doing in this backwash of the sea of commerce, when I might well be making a zillion dollars (well, maybe only a skillion) in the heartland of big business, far across the sea and mountains, or at least across the Gulf of Georgia.

Sometimes they even ask me, right out, and I have been hard put to explain.

So I was pleased to receive, the other day, a copy of TIME Incorporated's employee letter which, among other things, had high praise for the manner in which Lawrence Lessing, an associate editor of Fortune magazine, copes with working in Rockefeller Centre and living in comfort.

Mr. Lessing—who does, indeed, make a zillion dollars, or at the very least a half-zillion—lives in a place with the delightful name of Upper Black Eddy, Pa.

He must like it in Upper Black Eddy, Pa., because it is a mere fraction over a 20-minute subway ride.

In fact, on a good day, Mr. Lessing can get into his office in as little as two and one-half hours.

To do this, he has to surmount rather uncertain road conditions which maintain in the Delaware River Valley. For this purpose, he drives a four-wheel drive jeep, in which he navigates 40 miles of so-called road.

He then dusts off his Brooks Bros. suit and his alligator-skin briefcase, and boards a more-or-less modern Jersey Central Railway train in Raritan, N.J.

At Elizabeth, N.J., he debarks from the more-or-less modern train and fights his way onto a far-from-modern commuting car, which, with luck, takes him all the way into New York City.

Refreshed by this invigorating matutinal manouvre, and cheered by the prospect of carrying it out in reverse later in the day, Mr. Lessing then plunges into his day's work.

And people ask me why I live in this, the Fairest City of Them All!

Three Charges Cost Driver $190 In Fines

Dennis B. McKay, 17 Dock Street, was fined a total of $190 and had his licence suspended in city police court today on two counts of careless driving and one of failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

The prosecution claimed that McKay hit a parked car on Crescent, leaving 40 feet of skid marks up to the mishap, fled from the scene of the accident, and was in another collision with a parked car on Dallas Road, driving it into a power pole.

"You could scarcely have been more of a menace on the public street," Magistrate William Ostler told him, fining him $40 and $50 on the careless driving charges, and $100 on the charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Forgery Attempt Case Committed To Higher Court

Peter Chong, alias Chong Wing Ming, was committed to a higher court for trial Thursday by Magistrate William Ostler on charges of attempted forgery.

He elected trial by judge and jury, and will appear in court at the fall assizes.

The Crown alleges that Chong approached three Victoria printers and asked them to make facsimiles of department of citizenship and immigration letterheads to be used to get people out of Communist China and into Hong Kong.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Charges of operating in an area for which they were not licensed brought two trucking firms into Saanich magistrate's court on Thursday.

Anderson and Moar Trucking Ltd., of Ashcroft, was fined $15 for delivering a load of lumber for a Victoria logging company.

A Calgary firm, Interior Motor Transport, was remanded to July 6 for plea.

The charge against it arose because of the delivery of a load of pipe to Saanich municipality on behalf of John Davison Ltd., of Vancouver.

Fire in the garage of a home owned by Donald Wagg, 3996 Cadboro Bay Road, took Saanich firemen Thursday on their first run from the new fire police headquarters.

Confined to the back wall of the garage, the fire did little damage.

City council today was to decide whether or not a temporary centennial pedestrian mall would be established on Broad, between Fort and Broughton.

Victoria Centennial Society has applied for permission to block off the street from July 27 to Aug. 4 so the Junior Chamber of Commerce could set up centennial displays and street shows.

If council agrees, it will be the first time that the long-mooted concept of a pedestrian mall will be viewed by Victorians. Original idea came more than five years ago. Merchants in the proposed block asked for it about two years ago.

Delegates from B.C., Alaska, Washington, Oregon, Montana and Alberta are attending a conference of the Christian Family Movement which opens today in St. Patrick's School and will continue until Sunday night.

DRIVER WINS

Court Rules Drink Had Not Taken Effect

A man may drive a car with sufficient alcohol in his to be potentially intoxicated, and still not be guilty of impaired driving, Magistrate William Ostler ruled in police court this morning.

Case against Glen W. Hanson was dismissed, although four prosecution witnesses supported charges of impaired driving, testifying that at the time they had contact with Hanson his ability to drive a motor vehicle was impaired by alcohol.

Charges arose from an accident on June 16, when Hanson's car struck one driven by a Vancouver social worker, Edward Teather, on Gorge Road in front of the Redwood Motel.

INCOHERENT

Constables Ivan Purdie and Lawrie Beltrie of the city police testified that when they questioned Hanson after the accident—about 7:25 p.m. on June 16—he was incoherent, unsteady on his feet, and smelled of alcohol.

He agreed to take a sobriety test at the police station, and was examined there by Dr. E. L. McNiven, who estimated the alcohol level in his blood to be about .13 or .14 per cent.

(Medical opinion is that all persons are impaired at the .15 level, none are impaired below the .05 level, and a level between these two may mean impairment depending on the individual.)

Dr. McNiven informed the officers that he would support an impaired driving charge should one be brought.

Later, Hanson asked the desk sergeant in the charge office if he could use the telephone, and was granted permission. The sergeant's opinion was that Hanson was completely intoxicated.

CLERK TESTIFIED

Richard J. Tuthill, a clerk at the Liquor Control Board store on Johnson Street, testified for the defence that he had sold a case of beer to Hanson at about 7 p.m. and he seemed all right then.

Bernard O'Neill, who was drinking with Hanson at a Legion beer parlor earlier in the evening, said that Hanson had probably had about four bottles of beer.

Magistrate Ostler, in dismissing the charge, noted the fact that Hanson's intoxication seemed to be on a "rapidly-ascenting curve," and that the prosecution witnesses bore out the defence theory that the full effects of the beer Hanson had drunk had not become evident until after the accident.

He elected trial by judge and jury, and will appear in court at the fall assizes.

The Crown alleges that Chong approached three Victoria printers and asked them to make facsimiles of department of citizenship and immigration letterheads to be used to get people out of Communist China and into Hong Kong.

Freedomite Doukhobors have hired their own defence lawyers and no request for legal aid has been made, Attorney General Robert Bonner said today.

He was commenting on a plea from a group of university professors in Vancouver for a $25,000 defence fund to pay legal costs for 70 Freedmites charged with conspiring to intimidate the federal and provincial governments.

"I am advised all members of the fraternal council (of Freedmites) on trial are represented by legal counsel," Mr. Bonner said.

The frigate, senior ship of the Fourth Canadian Escort Squadron based at Esquimalt, will be berthed at the CPR wharf, foot of Oswego Street, and open to the public from 1:30 to 4:15 p.m., Saturday and Sunday.

A petition by 12 merchants located on and near the 1100 block Meares today asked city council to inaugurate a two-hour parking limit to eliminate all-day parkers.

City Hall's special transportation committee today recommended that council formally designate 21 bus stops as such to legalize number of recent changes in location.

TRAVELLER-RUNNER IN TIMES MEET

Now We're Called 'Bit of Olde Sweden'

By IAIN HUNTER

Anglophiles take note: Greater Victoria is really just a bit of Olde Sweden.

Well-known Jamaican middle distance runner and holder of two Olympic bronze medals, George Kerr passed this judgment on our fair city and its environs immediately upon stepping from the plane at Pat Bay airport on Thursday evening.

The 23-year-old 155-pound athlete has run in nearly every European country as well as Australia, New Zealand and the U.S. A graduate of the University of Illinois, he is taking his M.Sc. degree currently at Oregon State University.

Sweden impressed him so much that he said he would like to go to university there after taking his American degree.

Scheduled to take part in the Times-YMCA sponsored Centennial track meet on Saturday at 7 p.m. at Victoria High School, George came to the city a day earlier just to be able to take in some Island scenery before the meet.

His wanderlust was sparked by his idolization of Herb McKinley, the former

THREE DAYS OF ENTERTAINMENT

Navy Plans 'Whoop-de-do' In City Centenary Salute

Ship Cruises For Children In Program

An ambitious program to salute Victoria's centennial year is being planned by the RCN Pacific Command, Aug. 9 to 11 inclusive.

The "salute" was requested by the centennial committee, and details are still being ironed out in meetings with civic officials, police and fire department heads, and the centennial committee.

RCN headquarters has approved an allotment of $9,900 for the three-day operation, but additional funds may be needed to carry out tentative plans.

These call for a parade, cruises on navy ships for youngsters, close to 20 displays, both static and active, at Beacon Hill Park, diving demonstrations in Horseshoe Bay, and a giant fireworks display from a barge anchored off Beacon Hill.

NIGHT LIGHTING

The program as it now stands indicates an even bigger show than in 1956, last time the navy went on display in the park. This time, it is hoped to bring in electricity to floodlight the grounds at night, and to install special public address system.

Meanwhile, "back on dry land," Mayor Harris has called out members of the newly established order of the Knights of the Beard to patrol downtown streets this evening to recruit new members.

Centennial Committee will offer cash prizes for the longest and most bushy beards to be produced by males this centennial year.

In addition, curly combs and centennial dollars will be given away to beards showing the most promising future through the year.

TEST PULL

"All beards will be subject to a 10-pound test pull," Mayor Harris warned. "It would be a terrible thing if we awarded the prize to a set of false whiskers."

Qualifications are an eighth of an inch or two days' growth, whichever comes first.

For those who cannot, or who are not allowed to cultivate a beard, shavers permits will be issued.

Eric Lewis, manager of Ensign Motors, said Mr. McPhillips' view of tariffs was "foolish." Conservative policy seemed to be to offer loans to small businesses and then to ruin them by tariffs.

TWO-WAY STREET

"It's a good thing he didn't say this before the election," declared C. J. Horwood, of Horwood Bros. Ltd.

"It wouldn't have added to his popularity."

Hugh A. Fraser, sales manager for Speedway Motors, pointed out that trade was a two-way street. If Canada wanted to sell its basic products in return.

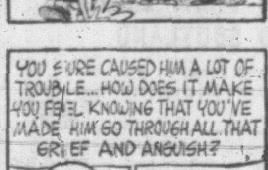

Answering Mr. McPhillips' claim that imported cars "have been reaping a harvest for us," National Motors manager R. P. Carette stated:

"He didn't show much foresight in that statement."

He should be in the car business.

It is probably one of the most highly competitive businesses in the world."

ASK The TIMES

Q. When did the first settlers arrive in Sooke? H.D.

A. 1849.

Q. Is "Esquimalt" really an Indian name and if so what does the translation of it mean? J.T.A.

A. It is a transliteration of the Indian expression "Is-who-math" meaning a "place gradually sloping".

Q. In view of the last issue of Canadian stamps could you please tell me who Jean Talon was? M.E.M.

A. Jean Talon served from 1665 to 1672 as intendent of Justice and Finance in New France. In order to put the colony on a sound economic basis he established a royal shipyard in Quebec, organized searches for iron and copper, and encouraged the growing of flax so that the Colonists might weave their own linen and cotton.

Margaret Todd Trails by Two Holes

VANCOUVER (CP) — Gayle Hitchens of Vancouver took a two-up lead over Margaret Todd of Victoria after 18 holes in the 36-hole B.C. Women's Close Golf championship final.

The 18-year-old B.C. junior champion, seeking a double in the same week, came from behind on the second nine to take the lead.

Mrs. Todd, seeking her fourth title and her first since 1949, was one up after nine holes.

10 More Doukhobor Homes Burned

KRESTOVA (CP) — The burning of another 10 "Sons of Freedom" Doukhobor dwellings in this Freedomsite area of British Columbia were reported late Thursday night and early today by RCMP.

The burnings bring to 181 the number of buildings fired by Freedomites, mainly women, in their avowed "scorched earth" policy protesting arrest of 70 members of the sect's fraternal council. The council members face charges of intimidating the federal and provincial governments.

10 'Water Tower' Convicts Hold Out

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Living on candy bars and hanging on with determination, 10 rebel convicts continued to battle sun and thirst today on a prison water tower. One prisoner gave up Thursday. He was put in hospital overnight.

Edmonton MP Rumored As Speaker

EDMONTON (CP) — Marcel Lambert, 42, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Edmonton West, said today speculation that he will be named Speaker of the House of Commons was "very interesting."

Mr. Lambert, first elected to Parliament in the Edmonton West constituency in 1957, said: "The decision is entirely up to the prime minister. Beyond that I have no comment to make."

New Attempt At Medicare By Mediation

REGINA (CP) — Saskatchewan Premier Woodrow Lloyd has asked the Canadian Medical Association to urge his province's doctors to provide normal services after July 1.

REGINA (CP) — Mediation meetings will be held today in Saskatoon in an attempt to bring together the principals in a dispute over the province's Medical Care Insurance Act.

Major Roy Dean of North Battleford, Sask., president of the Saskatchewan Urban Municipalities Association, said separate meetings would be held with Premier Woodrow Lloyd and Dr. H. D. Dalgleish, president of the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons. It was hoped that following these meetings the two leaders would meet in an attempt to resolve an impasse between the doctors and the government.

Mr. Dean, Jack Hamilton, president of the Saskatchewan Association of Rural Municipalities, and Don MacMillan, president of the Saskatchewan Hospital Association, were to attend the separate, closed-city meetings at Saskatoon city hall. Mr. Dean said a statement would be made at the conclusion of the meetings, and the possible face-to-face meeting of the leaders in the dispute, were perhaps the last hope for settlement of the medical care dispute. Doctors have said they will close their offices at midnight Saturday.

FRILLS AND FROLIC IN FINANCE FACTORY

Staff of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, Douglas and Cormorant, today joined the Mayor's "100-Club" by donning period-style dress—and will repeat the performance every Friday during Centennial celebrations. Girl bankers made their own dresses and assisted the men with a few frills. On the left, wearing grey topper, is branch manager Ernest C. Brown. (Photo by Hallock.)

LEONARD ACES 208-YD. HOLE

CHICAGO (AP) — Veteran Stan Leonard of Vancouver aced the 208-yard eighth hole and finished his second round in the $39,000 Western golf Open with 34-35-69 to day.

Leonard reached the half-way mark with 145 after taking 76 Thursday.

Leonard used a No. 3 iron for his hole-in-one. He won an automobile for the shot on the par-three hole.

Imported Liquor Up, Then Down

Prices of imported liquor, raised 25 per cent by the provincial government on Monday, will be scaled down now that the new austerity tariff charge has been clarified.

But, whether the public will get the benefit before the coming holiday weekend or afterwards was not definite this morning.

Attorney-General Bonner, who discussed the price situation with Liquor Commissioner Donald McGugan this morning, said he might have an announcement later today.

The 25 per cent boost at the retail level was applied over a wide range of imported stocks last Monday morning immediately after the austerity tariffs were announced in Ottawa Sunday. The increase also took into account the devalued dollar.

Since then, the government has learned the tariff applies only on its wholesale price, so the readjustment will be made downwards. If cabinet authority can be cleared, the reductions might go into effect Saturday.

OAS COMMANDOS GOING

Oran Moslems Revel As Terror Collapses

ORAN, Algeria (Reuters) — Joyful bands of Moslems flocked into central Oran today, marking the apparent collapse of European terrorist resistance.

The Moslems crossed over the barbed-wire barriers dividing the European and Moslem communities in this city which has been the last bastion of the European terrorist Secret Army Organization.

They marched in groups of five or six right up to the centre of the city where they have not dared venture for months.

One said: "It is not victory. It is peace."

His companion asked him: "Do you know your way the Secret Army—suicide commandos?" who left a legacy of destruction in this western African port city.

It also coincided with reports of the imminent departure of

Car Dealer Fined

VANCOUVER (CP) — Earl McLean, president of a used-car firm here, was fined $1,000 in police court today on a charge of attempting to defraud a customer.

The split was reported to have been brought about by sharp disagreements between fraudulent intent.

Hope Mister Churchill's hip ends with a hooyer.

Of course th' country's basically prosperous. It'd even afford Mister Diefenbaker without actually goin' broke, couldn't it?

Th' question ain't so much th' austerity as th' severity.

Doctors Insert Peg Near Hip

LONDON (AP) — Surgeons operated on Sir Winston Churchill tonight to repair his fractured left thigh bone.

A medical bulletin issued shortly after the operation, his second in two days, said Churchill's condition was "at present quite satisfactory."

A hospital official reported he was wheeled into an operating room in London's big Middlesex Hospital not long after he was brought by jet ambulance plane from the Riviera.

He suffered the injury in Monte Carlo when he fell while getting out of bed Thursday morning. Doctors decided on the operation after study and consultation.

Two leading orthopedic surgeons — professor Herbert John Seddon and Dr. Philip H. Newman — were given the assignment of mending the break, probably by inserting a pin at or near the hip.

Doctors at Middlesex Hospital said after his arrival there that Churchill's condition was satisfactory and as good as could be expected.

The announcement said: "In spite of his long journey his condition is as satisfactory as can be expected and it has been decided to operate this evening."

The bulletin was signed by Lord Moran, Churchill's personal physician, Dr. H. F. Seddon of the Royal National Orthopaedic Hospital, and Dr. Philip Newman, senior consultant orthopedic surgeon at the Middlesex Hospital.

The same team conducted the operation assisted by an anesthetist.

CHEERFUL

Despite his injury, Churchill appeared cheerful as he was hoisted from the plane into a waiting ambulance by a fork lift normally used for loading and unloading baggage.

Churchill looked around at the doctors and ambulance attendants and raised his hand in the "V-for-Victory" salute he made famous during the war.

A big crowd waited at the airport to cheer him as his plane landed and another crowd gathered to greet him at the Middlesex Hospital in the heart of London's west end residential area.

Lady Churchill, who did not go with her husband to Monte Carlo last Tuesday, was on hand with their journal son, Randolph, to greet Sir Winston.

Isherwood Asks Recount

Victoria Liberal Foster Isherwood said he was applying for a judicial recount of federal election ballots this afternoon.

He was to appear before County Court Judge J. B. Clearihue.

"All my friends and supporters have urged me to do it," said Mr. Isherwood. "They feel it is justified in view of the closeness of the election."

Mr. Isherwood was 216 votes behind Conservative A. DeB. McPhillips after the final tally of votes cast June 18.

Civil Service Cut Studied at Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — A reduction in civil service staff is one of actions totalling 204,461 in March several economies being studied compared with 202,807 a year by the government in its move earlier. It was indicated that to cut expenditures, a senior civil service official said federal payroll could involve stricter controls on appointment of new employees and replacement of people who leave the Government employees, ex-civil service.

Eggs Prohibited As Loss Leader

Vancouver Island farmers are jubilant over a Vancouver Magistrate Court's judgment ruling that a chain store had no right to sell eggs as a loss leader.

The chain store was found guilty of violating the Commodities Minimum Loss Act when it used eggs as a loss leader.

The charge against the store was laid by the B.C. Federation of Agriculture when Vancouver chain stores became engaged last March in an egg price war.

It was test case to determine the constitutionality of the provincial act.

Charles E. S. Walls, manager of the federation and speaking for Island farmers, said: "Chain stores will now think twice before using an agricultural raw product as a loss leader."

Mexico Hails Kennedy With Fiesta

MEXICO CITY (Reuters)—President Kennedy and his wife were greeted with a 21-gun salute as they arrived by air today for a 48-hour goodwill visit to Mexico.

President and Mrs. Lopez Mateos and members of the Mexican cabinet and diplomatic corps welcomed the American visitors.

About 25,000 persons in and around the airport cheered and applauded.

Mexico City donn'd its holiday best for the Kennedys.

The fiesta mood was evident throughout the city, with a vast crowd jamming the streets along the Kennedy route from the airport to the presidential palace.

The press gave the visit wide play, with pictures, stories, biographies and cartoons of the distinguished guests.

The authorities took special security measures to prevent anti-Kennedy disturbances.

Since then seven more small holes have appeared in road surfaces in various parts of the city, the latest early today.

City engineer Ran Martin said most of the holes were caused by broken water mains.

Two of the men who fled the house were taken to police headquarters for questioning.

Thant Going to UK.

LONDON (Reuters)—Acting Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations will have talks with Prime Minister Macmillan and Foreign Secretary Lord Home during an official visit here next week, the foreign office announced today.

The secretary conferred with Kennedy today. Rusk gave the president what his aides called a "moderately optimistic report" on the European trip from which he returned Thursday.

Mine Bids Reserved

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government reserved judgment today on renewed bids for special aid to prevent the scheduled Aug. 1 closing of a major Nova Scotia coal mine.

Gastown Going Down The Drain? Not Quite!

He said a break in a 24-inch water main caused the Georgia Street collapse.

Holes have appeared in at least eight roads in the last three days. And in each case the dirt in the holes has simply disappeared, leaving city crews with the task of ripping up the asphalt, dumping in new fill and relaying the road surface.

The first and biggest road collapse appeared Wednesday on a section of Georgia Street that is a main artery for heavy morning-night traffic.

At least two other children were rescued as three men in the house fled uninjured.

Dead is Susan McNeil. Firemen found her suffocated and burned to death in an upstairs bedroom.

In hospital in poor condition is the father, Ken McNeil, 45.

Two of the men who fled the house were taken to police headquarters for questioning.

Doctor on Bail In Tot's Death

HULL, Que. (CP)—Dr. Joseph Conrad Simard, 49, was released on $10,000 bail today after his arrest earlier on a coroner's warrant issued when an inquest verdict found him criminally negligent in the Feb. 26 death of a three-day-old child.

His arrest came early today after the jury at an inquest convened here Thursday night blamed excessive use of force during delivery and lack of post-natal care for the death of Jean Bussiere.
